ALLAYING fears of Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) with regard to power supply, BESCOM MD Mahantesh Bilagi on Monday said steps will be taken to address and resolve the issues affecting the sector.

Bilagi took part in an interactive session with Karnataka Small Scale Industries Association (KASSIA), where KASSIA president MG Rajagopal submitted a memorandum to him, highlighting the need for continuous supply of good-quality power, and to strengthen the power infrastructure, including power lines, transmission equipment and distribution system.

Panel chairman SM Hussain briefed Bilagi about issues such as the request for enhancement of LT (low-tension) limit from 67 HP to 201 HP, misuse of tariff, TOD (time of the day) meter, establishment of a maintenance and development wing less than 500 KVA in all divisions, developmental and service line charges, standard of performance, rooftop Solar Plants etc.

Health dept pilot to run in Gopalapura, expansion of project to be based on result

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AS the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) reported over 10,000 dengue cases and three deaths since January this year, the State Health Department with BBMP has installed 120 'Ovi Traps'. It is a bio-device that attracts and destroys mosquitoes to control vector-borne diseases. According to Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao, 120 such traps have been installed in Binnypet ward's Gopalapura on a pilot basis.

"The department is planning to use bio-devices to control infectious diseases like dengue, malaria and Zika. A similar experiment was conducted in Mumbai's Dharavi slum area. The department will wind up the study in 60 days and based on the results, further steps will be taken," he said. Asked whether the department will extend the program across the state and also allocate a budget, he said a decision will be taken based on the result.

"If it is for the public good. The state government will surely accommodate it in its health scheme and also allocate a budget. The department will explore options like fund mobilisation under CSR for such activities," he stressed.

According to BBMP health officials, each bio-trap costs Rs 300 to Rs 400. Chief Health Officer Dr Syed Sirajuddin Madani, National Vector Borne Disease Control Programme (NVBDCP) Deputy Director Mohammad Sharif, West Zone Health Officer Dr Manoranjan Hegde and other officials were present at the launch of the 'Ovi Trap' installation programme.

WHAT IS A BIO TRAP?

It is a pot-shaped device. The pot is filled with water and chemicals are mixed. The chemical mixture attracts mosquitoes to lay its eggs in the water. The device then traps aedes mosquito's eggs and also eliminates larvae. It is said that 60% of mosquitoes can be controlled by using bio traps alone.

BBMP shuts 2 post offices over non-payment of rental dues

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has shut two post offices over non-payment of rental dues.

The BBMP shut the post office on St John's Road, as the officials of the postal department allegedly did not respond to several notices sent to them, over revised rental dues pending since 2014. The revenue officials from the BBMP East Zone sealed the post office on Monday. As per the revenue officials, the said facility has dues to the tune of Rs 88.91 lakh, since February 26, 2014.

The department was informed about the revised rentals for the post office measuring 1,665 sqft. However, the dues were not cleared, despite several reminders being sent to it, following which a notice was served and it was sealed on Monday, BBMP officials said.

Similarly, the post office located on the ground floor of Vasanth Nagar market, measuring 214 sqft, had not paid the outstanding difference of rent/lease amount for revision from January 2016 to July 2024. Due to non-payment of the revised rent, despite several notices issued in this regard, and based on the order of the Zonal Commissioner (East), the post office was sealed. "The Vasanth Nagar post office has an outstanding amount of Rs 10,80,368," said an official, adding that the post office staff were informed about the action and police protection was sought to avoid any confrontation.

Scrapped BMTC bus now a mobile canteen

BENGALURU: The technical staff of the BMTC have converted a scrapped bus into a mobile canteen that can be stationed at any bus depot. A BMTC store bus belonging to the North Division, which had covered a distance of 10.64 lakh km, has been ingeniously converted into a 'Bhojana Bandi' (mobile canteen) by the technical and running staff of Dasanapura's Central Workshop-4. Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy appreciated the staff for their effort. The mobile canteen concept was created with a vision to provide a comfortable space for dining in new depots and bus stations that lack dedicated canteen facilities. The mobile canteen is named 'Come, Sit, We'll Have Food Together', and stands as a testament to the creativity and hardwork of the technical staff, said a release. The canteen has seating, fans for ventilation, and also a wash basin and drinking water facilities. ENS

PETER VIDAL

27th August: Magic Mercury is making a series of movements which can relate to a sudden change of direction. What once seemed like a good idea may now look completely different and what once looked like a non-starter may now seem strangely realistic.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

There's an intriguing series of astrological rulerships today, with one planet connected to another in a chain circling your horoscope. The upshot is that this is a perfect moment to take professional decisions. Above all, though, you need to make some extra time for yourself.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

You are undoubtedly a highly emotional person, and very sensitive to the fact that other family members frequently seem to undervalue you. Yet, with the Moon so influential today, you must stand firm and believe in yourself. Eventually other people will believe in you as well.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

It's a time of movement and growth, yet ironically so much depends on your reaction to delays, frustrations and imposed restrictions. In other words, don't let imaginary obstacles blind you to marvellous opportunities. Check out a major problem and you'll see how fast it disappears.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

Today's dominant planetary aspect colours your life for the next week. My advice is to highlight co-operation, but to insist that other people follow your ideas and plans rather than the reverse, which is so often the case. All it takes is a little of your gentle, persuasive charm.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)

Professional influences in your horoscope are due to intensify briefly before dying down at the end of the week. Colleagues will be impressed by your caring, compassionate nature and a display of emotion may even go down well. Other people will be pleased to see that you really are concerned with their welfare.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

Today's Moon is, first of all, a deeply favourable presence in your chart, and should help stabilise your emotions and keep you in a contented mood. If you've not arranged a break, do so now. If you've made plans already, now is the time to fill in the details.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

In the past you may have imagined that all your efforts and sacrifices were in vain. However, within a few days you should see that you did the right thing, even if for the wrong reasons! At least there is some satisfaction in knowing how you can deal with the same problem next time around.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

You really are the brightest of the bunch at the moment. No matter how you have been put down in the past by people who imagine they are smarter than you, you must now push and promote your own original ideas. If you don't make the first move, nobody else will.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

Mercury's celestial relationships are just what you need: unusual, stimulating, adventurous and independent. A plan, scheme or project you imagined would be a sure-fire success will therefore benefit from a complete rethink. Everything is up for grabs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

Many Capricorns are complaining about their lot. Let me make one thing clear: almost all your problems may be solved by a change of attitude. To an extent, your ideas are now out of date and behind the times. They'll be back in fashion eventually, but not yet!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

I don't see any real chance of misunderstandings, mistakes or blunders. On the contrary, your horoscope is assuming a brighter prospect, enabling you to make the most of better family and personal relationships. There could even be professional benefits.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20)

The current lunar alignment is a supportive one for Pisceans, for it helps stabilise your rampant emotions. However, it will also remind you of the necessity of dealing with, or discussing, certain practical tasks you'd much rather avoid.

Siddu admits to lapses in B'luru prison, says more heads may roll

Govt contemplating shifting actor Darshan to another jail, says chief minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Belagavi

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah admitted to lapses at the Bengaluru Central Prison, Parappana Agrahara, in connection with the alleged VIP treatment given to Kannada actor Darshan by the jail authorities.

Speaking to the media at Belagavi airport, the CM said that seven employees of the jail have already been suspended and more higher officials may be suspended after the inquiry into the incident is completed.

Later, Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said that nine jail officials have been suspended.

Siddaramaiah said that the State Government has taken the developments at Parappana Agrahara seriously. Dr G Parameshwara will inspect the jail affairs in person and take cognisance of them, he added.

The CM said none of the senior officials in the jail will be spared, and action will be initiated against them based on the inquiry.

Siddaramaiah said that his government was contemplating shifting Darshan to a different jail, likely to Hindalga prison in Belagavi.

Meanwhile, the CM hit out at Union Minister of Consumer

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah addresses the media at Belagavi airport on Monday | EXPRESS

Affairs, Food and Public Distribution Pralhad Joshi for his recent remarks that the State Government was working for the welfare of the rich and not the poor.

"What has he (Joshi) done for the welfare of the poor as a minister? He has no moral right to criticise the State Government," Siddaramaiah added.

A total of 17 people, including Darshan, are currently in judicial custody in connection with the Renukaswamy murder case. The body of Renukaswamy, who was a fan of the actor, was found near a stormwater drain in Sumahalalli in Bengaluru on June 9.

Prisons need to be managed with tough hand: Ex-top cop

BALA CHAUHAN @bengaluru

BANGALORE Central Prison mismanagement is again under the spotlight after jailed Kannada actor and murder accused Darshan was reportedly spotted smoking and having tea with some others inside the prison premises. Nine prison officials of Bangalore Central Prison were suspended after a photograph of the incarcerated actor reportedly enjoying special facilities inside the high security prison went viral.

Speaking to TNIE, former director general and inspector general of police ST Ramesh, who had also headed the Prisons department as additional director general of police (ADGP) and inspector general of prison between 2006 and 2008, said that "prison administration has numerous challenges but it is no rocket science. It is an administration applying basic principles and norms with the Karnataka Prison Act & Rules and prisons manual for guidance. The prison chief may be required to take tough measures and decisions, even against senior prison personnel in the event of dereliction of duty, and act without fear or favour. One should have the right attitude and ability to resist pressure. Unfortunately, there are no takers for the post of prisons chief. It is not a cushy job".

The former police chief said surprise visits, searches, visits and inspections by the head of the department should be held periodically, and stern action should be taken against personnel responsible for violating prison rules, irrespective of their seniority.

As head of Prisons department, Ramesh had submitted two reports to the government against the then deputy inspector general, Prisons, after he had seized a mobile phone from a detenu in a surprise search operation at Bangalore Central Prison, followed by seizure of large quantities of stores, which were being sold in an unauthorised manner. "It wasn't an easy decision but I would have faltered if I had failed in my duty to bring it to the notice of the government. The message went down loud and clear to the lower rungs," he said.

Meanwhile, some former prison officers, on condition of anonymity, said that dealing with criminals is not an easy job, especially in times of illicit entry of mobile phones and rampant corruption inside prisons.

"There's a 40 per cent staff shortage, mostly at the level of head warders and warders, who are responsible for looking after the barracks, conducting searches of rooms and inmates' luggage etc. Criminals threaten and blackmail jail staff. Some of them also offer money and other favours in exchange for relaxing or overlooking control inside the prison premises. The criminals end up controlling the prisons if no tough and timely action is taken by the prison administration," they said.

"Four towers were installed at Bangalore prison to block calls from inside the prison but because the jammers were restricting calls made by people living outside, in the vicinity of the prison, the frequency was lowered. This is being misused by jail inmates, who use mobile phones with impunity. Staff shortage and corruption are the bane of prison administration. It is on the verge of collapse," alleged a former prison officer.

'Join the Commute' campaign will help police understand traffic woes

Bengaluru: To tackle Bengaluru's growing traffic issues and resolve commuter problems, the Bangalore South traffic police, led by DCP Shiva Prakash Devaraju, introduced the 'Join the Commute' campaign on Monday. The initiative directly involves citizens in identifying and addressing traffic challenges by allowing DCP Devaraju to accompany them on their daily commutes. Devaraju told TNIE that the 'Join the Commute' campaign is an effort to understand and address problems faced by commuters in real time. "I personally travel with commuters without my team, as having them around might prompt traffic police to clear traffic or solve issues, leading to free flow of traffic. So I travel with daily commuters. Citizens can register on the website, fill out their daily routes and modes of transport, and travel with a selected individual based on the matched time. The initiative helps me experience firsthand the obstacles commuters face, which I then work with my team to resolve. For example, parking vehicles by the roadside creates congestion, and operation of signals. We are working on these problems," he said. "Daily commuters now have the opportunity to share their opinions and help tackle real traffic problems on their routes. If this initiative works in our division, we will extend it other to divisions," Devaraju said. ENS

Nine held for assault over financial dispute

Bengaluru: Nine persons were arrested for allegedly assaulting a person over a financial dispute by Banasawadi police. The accused have been identified as Mehboob Pasha (48), Fairaz Pasha (48), Nizar Pasha (48), Raziq Pasha (38), Nafeez (36), Dawood (34) and Monsoor (34), all residents of Lingarajapuram, and two others. They have been accused of attacking Zohaib over money matters. The police said that Zohaib and Dawood were friends, and the latter had lent Rs 1.7 lakh to the former. Zohaib allegedly failed to repay the amount. On Saturday, Dawood, along with his associates, assaulted Zohaib with a machete, causing serious injuries. The victim is currently undergoing treatment at a hospital. Based on his complaint, the police registered a case and arrested six of the accused on Sunday, and the remaining three on Monday. Further investigation is on.

After the photograph, which is said to have been taken on August 22, went viral, prison officers IGP Anand Reddy and DIG Somashekhar visited the jail on Sunday evening. They are said to have found glaring lapses on the part of the suspended officers during the inquiry that went till Monday 1.30am. "Senior IPS officers have been directed to oversee the investigations into three cases," Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said. Surprisingly, sleuths of the Central Crime Branch (CCB), who raided the prison on Saturday, recovered nothing. Reacting to this, Dr Parameshwar said this aspect will also be probed. Meanwhile, Byadarahalli police on Monday arrested Sathya, with whom Darshan was on a video call in the leaked video clip. Sathya was arrested in Mandya.

AADHAAR SEEDING OF LAND RECORDS STARTS TO COMBAT FRAUD

Anywhere registration in state from Sept 2

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister Krishna Byregowda here on Monday launched a campaign to link Aadhaar with the RTC (Record of Rights, Tenancy, and Crops or land records) to prevent fraudsters from creating fake documents and cheating innocent people.

He also said the new initiative of anywhere registration, which was launched as a pilot in Tumakuru and Belagavi, will be extended to other districts from September 2.

On Aadhaar linking, he told reporters at Vikasa Soudha, "The land of innocent people is being systematically robbed. Complaints are heard that even the lands of the deceased have been sold by creating fake documents. Innocent people have to run to courts for years to clear such cases."

He said, "The Aadhaar linking campaign has been launched to prevent such cases and to protect and authorise the right of the common people to their land."

He said, "Aadhaar linking was launched on trial basis for one month in three taluks. With the trial successful, it has been expanded to all parts of the state."

He appealed to the people not to consider this as an inconvenience and to cooperate with the process of Aadhaar linking at the time of registration for the safety of land ownership and to avoid fraud.

Book appointment online, register your property

Byregowda said the "anywhere registration" system will be extended across the state from September 2. "The state has 252 sub-registrar offices. But staffers in only 50 offices face work pressure. People coming to these offices are being inconvenienced. There are complaints that the work is not done on time, they have to wait for a long time and there are a lot of middlemen. Anywhere registration has been launched to tackle these issues," he said.

A person who wants to register property can go to any sub-registrar office which is convenient for her/him, where there is no crowd, book an appointment online and register their property, he said.

This reduces work pressure on the staff at sub-registrar offices, and will help people get their properties registered easily, he added.

Earlier, Kaveri-2 technology was implemented to speed up property registration work. Now, "Aadhaar linking" and "Anywhere Registration" will help people even more, he added.

Principal Secretary V Rashmi Mahesh and Inspector General of Registration and Commissioner of Stamps Dayananda KA were present.

KIADB plot allotted to Kharge trust legally, says Cong leader

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HITTING back at BJP Rajya Sabha member Lehar Singh Siroya, KPCC media and communication chairperson Ramesh Babu on Monday said the trust run by the family of AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge was allotted a civic amenities (CA) site by the Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) as per rules and regulations.

The former MLC's response came after Lehar Singh, citing a report, questioned the allotment of five acres of land at an aerospace park near Bengaluru to the Kharge family's Siddhartha

Vihara Education Trust.

Stating that Lehar Singh has no knowledge of the rules, Babu said as per norms, a CA site can only be granted to co-operatives, trusts and associations that are at least three years old and not to individuals. "The KIADB did not allot CA plots for the last 40 years. In some cases, the high court had strictly stated that CA sites should be allotted to associations. The CA site has been allotted to Siddhartha Vihara Education Trust as per rules," he said.

"Let Lehar Singh publicly disclose how much property he mentioned in the election affidavit when he was an MLC in 2010 and 2016, and in the affidavit when he was elected a Rajya Sabha member. In 2010, he had declared Rs 12-13 crore as assets and has now declared Rs 70-72 crore. Don't fling dirt at others when your own political moves are in doubt," he commented.

He appealed to Governor Thawarchand Gehlot to reveal how many acres of CA plots were allotted and to which organisations by the previous BJP government. BJP and more than 70 BJP-supported organisations have been illegally given plots, he alleged.

"He (Lehar Singh) should bear the responsibility for this illegality, because he is identified in BJP supported organisations. We are not saying that BJP and BJP-supported organisations should immediately return the illegally acquired land. Because we don't stoop to low-level politics like Lehar Singh," he said.

Babu claimed that the Kharge family trust acquired the land to propagate Siddhartha's thoughts.

"The issue is being given a caste colour that Kharge was allotted the land because he belonged to the Dalit community. Lehar Singh has revealed the BJP's anti-Dalit mentality. Established in 1994, the trust is working for a public purpose. The land must be used for public purposes and cannot be used for personal purposes," he said.

"A complaint will be filed against Lehar Singh for targeting a community. He should apologise publicly, or else the Congress will fight against him," he said.

KPCC General Secretary Ramachandrappa was also present.

ASHOKA WANTS CHANNAPATNA TICKET FOR MLC YOGESHWARA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THOUGH the NDA candidate has not been finalised for the bypolls to Channapatna assembly constituency, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka battled for former minister and MLC CP Yogeshwara.

Ashoka claimed that he and former deputy CM Dr CN Ashwathnarayan had spoken to Yogeshwara and discussed the issue with Union Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy. "We will appeal to the party high command to give the ticket to Yogeshwara when we visit New Delhi," he told reporters on Monday.

Meanwhile, Yogeshwara continued to lobby for the ticket on his own, meeting BJP high command leaders in New Delhi. He held a round of talks a couple of weeks ago and warned that he dared to contest as an independent if the NDA does not consider his candidature.

On the other hand, Kumaraswamy's son Nikhil Kumaraswamy has been frequenting Channapatna assembly constituency, sending feelers that he could be the NDA candidate. Kumaraswamy is in no mood to relinquish the seat to the BJP, as he was Channapatna MLA before quitting to become Mandya MP. The BJP is likely to leave it to him to decide on the candidate as it will take the Sandur and Shiggaon assembly seats.

Recover loss from officials who 'blindly' accept term sheets: HC tells state govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

EXPRESSING displeasure over authorities "blindly" accepting the draft term sheets submitted by insurers for payment of premiums for crop insurance, which resulted in losses to the exchequer, the Karnataka High Court directed the state government to recover the losses incurred from the officials responsible.

A division bench of Justice Krishna S Dixit and Justice Vijaykumar A Patil passed the order while partly allowing the appeal filed by the Agricultural Insurance Company of India Ltd questioning the order passed by a single judge on a batch of writ petitions filed by farmers.

The court noted that the state had already settled the deficit claims of farmers and the single judge was right in saying that the state government had abdicated its duty to frame the term sheets on the basis of data already made available on record.

The court also said the functionaries of the state government blindly accepted the draft term sheets submitted by the insurers, which apparently shows a gross non-application of mind. This conduct attributable to the functionaries is culpable, to say the least. That has also resulted in loss to the exchequer since the government is made to pay what the insurer could have been made to reimburse, had the term sheets been prepared properly, it said.

Therefore, that cannot absolve officials from their liability. However, nothing can be done to the insurers whose actions have not faltered. Lapse attributable to the officials of the state government cannot be laid a the threshold of the insurer.

The officials who failed to take due care in framing the term sheets are at fault and therefore, the loss due to their negligence or recklessness should be made good by them only, the court said.

Siddu family claiming ownership of govt land with fake papers: HDK

Mysuru: Union Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel H D Kumaraswamy has accused Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's family of acquiring government land and claiming its ownership. Speaking to media persons here on Monday, Kumaraswamy said the land neither belongs to Siddaramaiah's brother-in-law nor his wife as it is a government land taken over by creating fake documents. He said MUDA has not realised this and allotted sites as compensation. Kumaraswamy alleged that Siddaramaiah has usurped property worth Rs 62 crore. He is ready for a debate and will give a befitting reply for the conspiracy the government has hatched. ENS

SIDDARAMAIAH said, "What will the self-proclaimed legal pundits, who used to say 'You can't erase the content by applying whitener,' say now? My wife simply asked for sites in Vijayanagar and someone made the adjustment on her behalf after the controversy erupted?"

Siddaramaiah criticised his political opponents and accused them of portraying him and his family as criminals. "The BJP and JDS leaders, who portrayed me and my family in poor light, have been proven wrong in the eyes of the people today," he said.

The CM expressed confidence that the truth will prevail. "It may take some time, but ultimately the truth will prevail," he said.

Meanwhile, Union minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy criticised Siddaramaiah for using a torch to show the content of the letter that had been concealed using whitener. The CM is repeatedly committing mistakes, Kumaraswamy said.

Questioning the authenticity of the document, Kumaraswamy said, "The original document is with MUDA. How did the CM get the original document? Who are the individuals who gave him this original document? And is this original document with MUDA, or is it in CM's house?"

A new Anubhava Mantapa comes up in M'rashtra

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

AHEAD of Assembly elections in Maharashtra, a newly constructed Anubhava Mantapa in Dahegaon of Aurangabad district is garnering attention. This modern structure pays homage to the first Anubhava Mantapa established by social reformer Basavanna in Bidar district, Karnataka, eight to nine centuries ago. The original Mantapa is widely regarded as a pillar of inclusivity and democracy.

The new Anubhava Mantapa has been built by Virendra Mangalge, a devoted follower of Basavanna. Talking to TNIE over phone, Mangalge highlighted the importance of Basavanna's teachings.

He said it is necessary to spread awareness on Basava philosophy across all religions and backgrounds. He said tragic killings of Govind Pansare, Narendra Dabholkar, and MM Kalburgi are stark reminders of the need to reject hatred and embrace inclusiveness and equality Basavanna preached.

The new Anubhava Mantapa cost around Rs 70 lakh - Rs 40 lakh for the construction, Rs 20 lakh for the land. Mangalge said the Anubhava Mantapa is open to everyone, regardless of caste or religion.

The inaugural function of the Mantapa was presided over by Dr Aravind Jatti of the Basava Samiti, based in Bengaluru.

6,356 liquor shops fined Rs 10.96 cr in three years for charging above MRP

VINCENT D'SOUZA
@Mangaluru

THE excise department collected a fine of Rs 10.96 crore from 6,356 retail liquor shops in the last three years in the state for charging customers more than the MRP. As per the Excise Act, CL-2 (retail shops) and CL-11C (MSIL retail outlets) have to sell liquor at MRP, while there are no such restrictions on price of liquor sold by other types of licensees.

Besides slapping a penalty under Section 36 of the Karnataka Excise Act 1965, the excise department also suspended the licences of 121 shops during the financial year 2021-22, 2022-23 and 2023-24. The highest number of such violations were found in Tumakuru, Kolar, Vijayapura, Ballari and Kalaburgi districts in the last three years.

Over one-sixth of such violations were found in the MSIL shops as it accounted for 1,003 cases during this period from which the department collected a fine of Rs 1.88 crore and suspended 20 licences. The data was shared by Excise Minister RB Timmapur in reply of questions raised by MLC Ivan D'Souza at the recent Assembly session.

The data revealed that the sale of liquor in the state was also on the rise despite the rise in prices. While 660.16 lakh boxes of liquor were sold in 2021-22, it went up to 698.46 lakh boxes in 2022-23 and 705.53 lakh boxes in 2023-24. Of the total sales, 84.27 per cent came from liquor priced low in the first four slabs of the declared price.

The minister said compared to neighbouring states, the price of imported liquor is 40 per cent higher in the state which has resulted in its low sales. However, he said the sales of imported liquor is expected to go up with the state government announcing to rationalise the prices to bring them on par with the neighbouring states.

To a query, the minister replied that the price of neutral spirit which is used in the manufacture of low-quality liquor is based on the market conditions and the department has no role to play in fixing its price.

MORE ALLEGATIONS, NEW NAMES ROCK MALAYALAM FILM INDUSTRY

Case against director Ranjith after actor's sexual harassment complaint

ANNA JOSE @ Kochi

THE tsunami that hit the Malayalam film industry after the release of the Justice Hema Committee report continued to wreak havoc with more women coming out with allegations of sexual harassment and misconduct against several big names in the field, including actor Jayasurya and filmmaker VK Prakash. On Monday, actor-producer Maniyanpilla Raju, actors Edavela Babu and Baburaj, and director Thulasidas also came under the cloud of harassment allegations.

Meanwhile, the Kochi city police registered a case against director Ranjith after a Bengali actor filed a sexual harassment complaint against the filmmaker. Ranjith had resigned as the chairman of the Kerala Chalachitra Academy following the allegations. Rocking the film fraternity further, senior actor Geetha Vijayan, actor Minu Muneer and a junior artist went public on Monday to narrate the traumatic experiences they encountered from some of their male colleagues.

Perhaps, the biggest name to figure in the allegations on the day was Jayasurya.

Minu Muneer, who acted in a slew of Malayalam movies, alleged the Jayasurya hugged and kissed her forcibly on the sets of the 2008 movie 'Dhe Ingotu Nokkiye'. "Without my consent, he hugged me from behind and when I turned around, he kissed on my lips. I was frightened and ran away from

LAPSES ON THE PART OF AMMA: PRITHVIRAJ

KOCHI: People facing sexual harassment allegations while holding positions in the Malayalam film industry should step down and face probe, actor Prithviraj Sukumaran said. Addressing a press conference in Kochi on Monday, he said there were lapses on the part of the Association of Malayalam Movie Artists (AMMA) in dealing with sexual harassment complaints. Strong interventions are required from the part of the association, the actor said. "These allegations should be taken seriously. There has to be a foolproof investigation against those facing the charges. If found guilty, strict action should be taken against the accused. Also, if it's proved that the allegations are made with ulterior motives, those who raised them should be punished," Prithviraj said.

there," she said.

In a Facebook post, Mini also accused actors Mukesh, Edavela Babu and Maniyanpilla Raju, and two technicians of physical and verbal abuse. "In 2013, I was subjected to physical and verbal abuse by these people while working on a project. I tried to continue working. However, when the abuse became unbearable, I was forced to leave the Malayalam film industry and relocate to Chennai. I am now seeking justice and accountability for the trauma and suffering I endured. I request assistance in taking action against their heinous actions," she wrote in the post.

Putting V K Prakash in the dock, a young writer from Kochi has accused him of sexual misconduct. "I went to meet him to tell a story. However, he offered me a role in his film and asked me to enact a vulgar and intimate scene. I felt uncomfortable, and when I objected, he acted the scene himself and tried to touch my body," she said, adding that she later left the place, rejecting the offer.

Earlier in the day, actor Geetha Vijayan told reporters that director Thulasidas behaved inappropriately with her during the shoot of his film 'Chanchattam' in 1991.

A junior artist, who wished to protect her identity, came out against Association of Malayalam Movie Artists joint secretary Baburaj alleging that he sexually assaulted her in 2019. "He offered me a role. He called me to his house under the pretext that the director was there. There were none at the house besides him, and he assaulted me sexually," she alleged.

Responding, Baburaj told the media that there is a conspiracy behind the allegations as he was set to become the general secretary of AMMA.

Newborn sold to couple for ₹10K in TG

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Ongole

AN Anganwadi worker sold her newborn daughter to a couple from Khammam in Telangana for ₹10,000 and fled the Ongole Government General Hospital without informing the staff. The incident came to light on Monday when Ponnaluru police officials rescued the infant and put her under medical observation at the Ongole GGH. The baby will soon be handed over to the Shishu Gruha.

According to police, V Manjula (48), an Anganwadi worker in a village in Ponnaluru mandal limits of Prakasam district, was living with two sons and a daughter after divorcing her husband. She was in a relationship with another man when she conceived. She gave birth to the baby girl at the government hospital in Kandukur on August 21. She was referred to the Ongole GGH on August 22 as she was weak, anaemic and was suffering from symptoms of pneumonia.

While undergoing treatment at the GGH, Manjula came into contact with another patient in the same ward. She allegedly told the woman she did not want the newborn baby and that she was ready to give her away. The other patient and her husband immediately contacted their relatives in Khammam, who agreed to pay ₹10,000 to Manjula in return for the baby. After the Anganwadi worker agreed, the other patient gave her ₹6,000 and kept ₹4,000 as commission. Subsequently, Manjula and her baby, along with the other woman, left the hospital without a word.

When the issue came to the notice of the District Child Protection Committee, officials immediately inquired about the matter with authorities at the Ongole GGH on August 24. Andhra Pradesh State Commission for Protection of Child Rights (APSCPCR) was also alerted. Subsequently, commission member Battula Padmavathi responded immediately and directed police and hospital authorities to inquire into the issue.

Based on a complaint by the Child Protection Committee, Ponnaluru police registered a case and launched an investigation. By August 25 night, they found out about the whereabouts of the infant and brought her to Ongole from Khammam Monday morning.

The APSCPCR took suo motu cognisance of the matter and issued notices to the district authorities, directing them to conduct an investigation and submit a detailed report within three days of receiving the notices.

Not that rosy: Gender pay gap among casual labourers high in Kerala

KERALA is one of the states with the highest gender pay gaps when it comes to casual labourers. The male casual labourers, both in the rural and urban areas of the state, earn the highest daily wage in the country at ₹846 and ₹903, respectively. But Malayali women are not as lucky as their male counterparts — they are ranked fifth for both rural and urban areas, according to the 'Women and Men in India 2023' report from the Union Government.

Women earn just half of what men earn — 50.47% in rural Kerala and 45.29% in urban areas. The state has the third highest gender pay gap in the country for rural and urban areas, showed the report.

In rural Kerala, the average daily wage for casual labourers, other than public works, is ₹846 for men and ₹419 for women. The wages in urban areas are ₹903 and ₹494, respectively. The national average wages for men and women in rural areas are ₹416 and ₹287, and urban areas ₹515 and ₹333, respectively. VEGETABLE VENDOR IS WITNESS, ENSURES MURDER ACCUSED IS SENTENCED TO LIFE

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

A woman vendor in HAL vegetable market in Bengaluru, sole eyewitness to a murder, played a key role in the conviction and sentencing of an accused to life imprisonment.

The entire case was standing on Salma's eyewitness account after many witnesses among those examined turned hostile. The murder took place just 10ft from Salma's shop, where she was selling vegetables. Relying solely on her eyewitness account, holding it creditworthy, the court accepted the case of the prosecution which considered Salma a star witness. She stood like a rock, at a time when many witnesses abstain from supporting the prosecution, despite the law being there for protection.

Civil and sessions court judge Somashekar A sentenced Mohammad Amjad (38), a resident of Vibhuthipura in the city, to undergo life imprisonment and pay a fine of Rs 50,000, based on her evidence.

The court noted that Salma, being the sole eyewitness, had clearly stated that the accused had murdered Syed Abdulla. Nothing was elicited in her cross-examination to discredit her testimony, and she withstood the rigour of cross-examination. Salma's testimony is corroborated by the testimonies of complainants, post-mortem reports etc. All these aspects point to the accused having committed the offence, the court added.

Abdulla and some others allegedly raped Amjad's sister in November 2013, and Amjad, harbouring enmity, murdered Syed Abdulla around 8am on August 2, 2015, near HAL vegetable market, stabbing his chest, stomach and other parts of the body with a button knife.

Counsel for the accused pointed out minor discrepancies in the prosecution to claim the benefit of doubt. The court, however, said the entire case of the prosecution cannot be rejected for not mentioning the eyewitness in the First Information Report, and does not indicate that Salma was not on the crime scene.

The court further said the Supreme Court, in the case between Jayaram Shiva Tagore and others and the state of Maharashtra, held that, "Conviction based on the testimony of a sole eyewitness is permissible, but a rule of caution has to be maintained. However, minor discrepancies are not fatal to the prosecution case."

The court further said a witness can see the occurrence and her presence at the spot may be made out from the statement given by the witness and surrounding circumstances.

Where Mahatma laid foundation for Krishna Mandir

DIVYA CUTINHO @ Mangaluru

KRISHNA Janmashtami was celebrated by children with devotion and religious fervour on Monday at the Krishna Mandir inside a school in Mangaluru, where Mahatma Gandhi had laid foundation stone during his short visit to the city decades ago.

According to historians, Mahatma Gandhi paid three visits to Mangaluru — 1920, 1927 and 1934 — as part of the freedom struggle.

During his visit to Mangaluru on February 24, 1934, Gandhiji laid the foundation of Krishna Mandir attached to Canara Lower Primary Kannada Medium School at Dongarakeri in Mangaluru and the plaque unveiled by him can still be seen on the school wall. The statue of Lord Krishna inside the temple is carved out by Renjal Gopal Shenoy from Karkala.

Vasundhara Shenoy, a student, said, "It is a proud feeling for all of us to know that Mahatma Gandhi visited our school and laid foundation for the Krishna Mandir."

On the day of Krishna Janmashtami, special pujas are conducted.

"Our students recited bhajans, shlokas and offered puja to Lord Krishna. Students enthusiastically participated in the Mosaru Kudike celebrations and were dressed as Lord Krishna," said Pramila Saldanha, headmistress, Canara Girls High School.

The students also celebrate Mahatma Gandhi's birth anniversary by singing patriotic songs and reciting 'Raghuapati Raghava Raja Ram'.

"Every day our students offer puja to Lord Krishna and remember Mahatma Gandhi. The temple reminds people of the significance of Gandhi's role in the freedom struggle and the significant padayatra he had undertaken in 1934," Pramila added. The school is home to 130 students between Classes 1 to 5 and eight permanent teachers.

MODI'S UKRAINE VISIT A GEOPOLITICAL BALANCING ACT

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi did a tightly-choreographed balancing act by visiting Kyiv a month after he made Moscow his first port of call following his third successive victory in the general elections. The optics of his hugging President Vladimir Putin in July under full international glare had gone awry, as it happened the day a rogue Russian missile slammed into a children's hospital in Kyiv. Despite the prime minister sharing his outrage with Putin at innocent children becoming collateral damage in Russia's invasion of Ukraine, the damage was done. It led to adverse comments from Western nations questioning India's neutrality in the war. India's calculated equidistance was to protect its national interest so as to avoid an economic haemorrhage, as it got to import deeply-discounted Russian oil amid Western sanctions aimed at degrading Putin's war machine.

At Kyiv, Modi spun the neutrality question around to claim the country has not avoided taking sides or been indifferent, but has always been an active player on the side of peace. He emphasised New Delhi's commitment to uphold the principles of international law, including the UN Charter, such as respect for territorial integrity and sovereignty of states during his talks with President Volodymyr Zelenskyy. Modi's embraces continued to be a talking point, drawing a withering response from External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar to a question by a foreign journalist. Jaishankar attributed the journalist's lack of understanding to a possible cultural gap, adding such gestures are a common practice in India. He went on to point out that Modi had embraced Zelenskyy as well.

While in Kyiv as in Moscow, Modi said he was ready to play any role to promote peace in the region and urged both sides to quickly set up a talks table. But the Russian and Ukrainian leaderships do not appear to be in a mental frame to tamp down tensions at present. Ukraine threw up a surprise a few weeks ago by launching an audacious incursion into Russia in Kursk and is continuing to expand its footprint there. Russia's counterpunch came in the form of a recent barrage of over 100 missiles and an equal number of drones primarily targeting Kyiv's energy installations. Modi, the first Indian PM to visit Kyiv since bilateral relations were established in 1992, might perhaps have wanted to time it better—when peace would have had a real chance.

SINNER DOPE CASE LATEST WAKE-UP CALL FOR TENNIS

AS the US Open began on Monday, the most talked-about subject was not tennis, but something as grave as doping. In other words, the year's last Grand Slam opened under a dark cloud. There have been earlier instances of positive dope tests in tennis, including that of Simona Halep. But they pale in comparison with the secrecy and opacity surrounding the Jannik Sinner case. The 23-year-old Italian is the current men's world no 1. According to the International Tennis Integrity Agency (ITIA), he had failed two dope tests within eight days in March and April. Yet he continued to play amid appeals and hearings. In the end, all that he was docked were ranking points (400) he had accrued during Indian Wells and the prize money of $325,000 he earned at the tournament. He was provisionally suspended for a day at first on April 4, and for three days on the second occasion on April 17. Both times, Sinner successfully appealed. He argued that the banned substance clostebol—an anabolic androgenic steroid used as a performance enhancer—entered his body unintentionally through his physio and masseurs, who were using an ointment containing the drug available over the counter in Italy. The tribunal said that the amount of the substance in the body (billionth of a gram) was minute.

This has divided the world of tennis. Some players said this smacked of preferential treatment. Denis Shapovalov, Lucas Pouille and Tara Moore, who faced ITIA sanctions, said that top players are subject to different norms. Record Grand Slam winner Novak Djokovic said ahead of the US Open that protocols have to be clear and standardised. "Hopefully, the governing bodies of our sport will be able to learn from this case and have a better approach for the future. Collectively, there has to be a change," he said. Perhaps the ITIA overlooked the very tenet under which anti-doping rules are based. Anti-Doping Code 2.1.1 says, "It is the athletes' personal duty to ensure that no prohibited substance enters their bodies. Athletes are responsible for any prohibited substance or its metabolites or markers found in their samples." Whether the amount is a billionth of a gram or more, an elite athlete should be more responsible than the others in taking precautions. In the end, tennis is the loser.

QUICK TAKE

CONSTANT VIGIL FOR N-SAFETY

A new study has found that soil, plants and water near Los Alamos in the US—the birthplace of the atomic bomb, near which radioactive waste was dumped till 1963—are contaminated with an "extreme concentration" of plutonium. The finding flies in the face of what the US energy department has claimed. Meanwhile, a study published this January showed that the radiological impact within 30 km of seven Indian nuclear power plants was well within the recommended limits. Though the finding reinforced India's claim of ensuring nuclear safety, we should remind ourselves of the long half-life of radioactive material as seen in the American case and never let our guard down.

THE gruesome murder of a young lady doctor at the R G Kar Medical College in Kolkata, as a cruel sequel to a barbaric sexual assault, created a surge of anger in a sea of societal shame. The case is now being investigated by the Central Bureau of Investigation under supervision of the Supreme Court which took suo motu notice of the case amid ticking between the central and state governments and conflicting claims from the CBI and West Bengal police.

Outrage at the dastardly crime also triggered a countrywide strike by doctors. This interrupted medical services, except for some emergency care. The medical profession was unified in its protest against the lack of assured and adequate protection for healthcare providers. The Indian Medical Association (IMA) led the protests in every state. Nurses and allied health professionals joined, not only out of solidarity but also because they too are often victims of abuse and assaults by irate attendants, or the family and friends of seriously ill patients.

Apart from the terrible tragedy in Kolkata, there have been numerous instances of violence against healthcare providers—only a fraction of which is reported in the media. An even smaller fraction of culprits face criminal charges. This often results in flash strikes by doctors, resulting in many patients being denied timely attention, investigation and treatment despite their being innocent of the crimes against medical personnel.

The distress caused to patients when medical services are suspended was poignantly voiced by the chief justice of India. The government's many assurances that there would be strong measures—both to protect healthcare providers as well as punish offenders who indulged in physical or verbal aggression—did not carry conviction to the protestors. However, the CJI emotively appealed to the conscience of the striking doctors by affirming that doctors and judges cannot go on strike because their work "involved matters of life and liberty". The court pointed out that if services are unavailable in public hospitals, those who need them the most would be affected.

On August 17, the Union health ministry announced the setting up of a committee to recommend measures to prevent and punish violence against doctors. However, the committee's composition was not revealed, nor was a notification issued following the announcement. Judicial intervention by the CJI followed soon after. A national task force (NTF) comprising 10 eminent doctors and four high-ranking ex officio members was announced when the Supreme Court took up the Kolkata case.

The NTF has reputed specialist doctors drawn mostly from high-profile institutions in metros, but does not provide voice to doctors in district hospitals and remote medical colleges where violence is often inflicted on healthcare providers by irate mobs. Despite the short time available to it, the NTF should take a pan-India perspective to identify challenges at different levels and settings. They should also consider the safety and dignity of all categories of personnel working in clinical care institutions and public health programmes.

Given the short interval between the health ministry's announcement and the Supreme Court's constitution of the committee, it is not clear whether the government's recommendations were reflected in or routed to the NTF. In any case, the top court's intervention was impactful because its authority and intentions created greater confidence among doctors than the amorphous assurances by the government. The CJI emerged as a knight in shining judicial armour.

While the recent surge of angst among healthcare providers was allayed by the sensitive approach and astute problem-solving skills of the Supreme Court, the reasons for public misconduct and haunting insecurity often experienced by healthcare providers need to be identified and remedied if we have to find appropriate and enduring solutions. The causes

WHY FOOD PRICES SHOULD INFORM THE INFLATION FIGHT

TULSI JAYAKUMAR

Professor, finance and economics, and

and Entrepreneurship at Bhavan's SPIJMR

tant role that food plays. There are, of course, arguments suggesting the weight assigned to food in India's CPI is disproportionately high at 45.86 percent, and does not align with the nation's status as an emerging economy. This weightage of food in the overall CPI portrays India as a subsistence economy—an assumption that can be contested. However, an examination of the average monthly per capita expenditure (MPCE)

The latest Economic Survey highlighted that food inflation is largely driven by supply-side factors outside the direct realm of monetary policy. It suggested doing away with the metric for keeping inflation within the target range. But only a disinflationary monetary policy informed by food inflation trends can ensure stability and the share of food and non-food items within it reveals that 46 percent of the MPCE for rural Indians is still attributed to food, while the corresponding share for urban Indians is 39 percent. As of June 2024, 68.8 percent of the population resides in rural areas, while 31.2 percent lives in urban areas. A simple weighted average calculation indicates that food inflation should still constitute almost 44 percent of the overall CPI, reflecting a significant portion of what is driving inflation in India.

Another issue is the anchoring of inflationary expectations so as to prevent next round increases. In this context, two points are crucial. First, households' inflationary expectations are influenced by food prices.

Second, the more credible households and firms perceive central bank policy to be, the more likely it is that inflationary expectations will remain well anchored. A central bank monetary policy that disregards food inflation will be seen as non-credible, leading to unanchored expectations. This is likely to trigger a vicious cycle of unanchored inflationary expectations, followed by higher trend inflation.

A final issue concerns the contribution of various food sub-groups to overall inflation and its implication for monetary policy. During 2016-2023, food sub-groups such as oils and fats, spices, and meat and fish contributed to higher average inflation compared to other sub-groups. Similarly, groups such as vegetables, oils and fats, and pulses, contributed to greater food volatility. These significant fluctuations can have a lasting impact on headline inflation and inflationary expectations. Hence, monetary policy would be necessary to prevent unanchored inflationary expectations.

As empirical evidence, we can examine the latest headline inflation data released by the government for July 2024, along with the inflation expectations data. The inflation data shows that while retail inflation stood at 3.54 percent—well below the 4% target—food inflation remained higher at 5.06 percent, albeit well within the psychological 6 percent limit. However, the expectations data indicates households' median perception of current inflation rose by 20 basis points (bps) to 8.2 percent, with their inflation expectations for the three-month and one-year periods also increasing by 20 bps each. Households not only anticipate higher prices but expect the rate of price increase to be greater both three months and one year ahead. Moreover, much of these inflationary expectations were closely linked to food prices.

It is evident that controlling inflationary expectations is impossible without keeping food prices in check. The influence of food inflation on the success (or failure) of our monetary policy and economic stability is undeniable. On this, there can be no debate. AFTER days of hard bargaining, the National Conference and Congress on Monday finally sealed the pre-poll alliance for the first Assembly elections in J&K Union Territory since Article 370's revocation. The NC will contest 51 seats and Congress 32 with friendly contests on five seats. The two parties have left one seat each for CPM and Panthers Party.

Congress leaders KC Venugopal, Salman Khurshid and Bharat Solanki arrived in Srinagar today morning and held a series of meetings with NC leadership including its president Farooq Abdullah and vice-president Omar Abdullah. Two rounds of talks were held to iron out differences on some contentious seats, which both parties were reluctant to leave.

There was urgency in the talks as the last date for filing the nomination papers for the first phase of elections is Tuesday. The breakthrough was reached in the second sitting in the evening with the parties sealing the seat sharing agreement.

"It is a matter of great happiness that both of us will fight together. Today we have completed the negotiations and have done coordination in a very cordial atmosphere. The alliance is sealed and both parties will jointly contest the polls," NC president Farooq Abdullah announced at a joint press conference with Congress leaders after the conclusion of the talks. J&K Congress chief Tariq Hamid Karra said out of the 90-member Assembly seats NC will contest 51 seats and Congress 32. Both parties have left a seat each for CPM and Panthers Party.

There would be a friendly contest between NC and Congress on five seats as the two parties failed to sort out differences on these contentious seats, which both wanted to contest. The parties would start issuing mandates, said Karra. The strength of Assembly seats here has risen to 90, including 47 seats in Kashmir and 43 seats in Jammu.

BJP thins list to only 16 nominees amid protest

After facing dissatisfaction with its initial list of candidates for 16 assembly seats in J&K, the BJP is approaching the process with heightened caution

Challenge from Congress

The BJP wants to consolidate its support base in Jammu, from where it won all its 25 seats in 2014. It is facing a tough challenge from rejuvenated Congress, which had lost both the LS seats in the Jammu region in the recent LS polls, but its vote share increased by 5-10%.

FAYAZ WANI & RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Srinagar/New Delhi

FACED with protests from party workers, the BJP on Monday withdrew its list of 44 candidates barely 45 minutes after releasing it for the J&K Assembly polls in the morning. It came out with a revised list of 16 candidates only for the first phase of polls due September 18.

The remaining candidates for 74 J&K assembly seats will be taken up at the party's Central Election Committee (CEC) meeting likely on August 29.

In the first list, the names of senior J&K BJP leaders including two former deputy CMs Kavinder Gupta and Nirmal Singh, former J&K BJP president Sat Sharma and former MLAs Sukhmandan and Bali Bhagat were missing. The list included names of some Gujjar leaders, who had joined the party recently.

The ticket denial to senior party leaders and loyalists triggered protests in party headquarters in Jammu. "We won't forge a pre-poll alliance with any party but would support some independent on some Valley seats," said a BJP leader.

A senior party source said: "After facing dissatisfaction with its initial list of candidates for 16 assembly seats in J&K, the BJP is approaching the process with heightened caution." Speaking about Haryana, a BJP functionary said the party was approaching the state's selection keeping in mind anti-incumbency concerns.

"There is no denying that anti-incumbency is prevailing against dozens of MLAs in Haryana which will vote in one go. The MLAs who didn't remain accessible to people and didn't play effective role in the agitation are likely to be dropped," said a senior BJP leader.

'RG Kar evidence tampered with, CBI must probe it'

WITH protests raging over the horrific rape and murder of a 31-year-old postgraduate trainee doctor, senior lawyer Bikashranjan Bhatnagary, who is representing the RG Kar Medical College and Hospital victim's family in the court, believes that evidence has been tampered with and hints at huge corruption in the hospital administration. In an interview with this newspaper, the senior advocate, who is also CPM Rajya Sabha MP, questions the delay in lodging an FIR. Excerpts:

You are representing the family of the victim of RG Kar Medical College and Hospital. What exactly happened?

The victim, a young doctor, comes from a lower middle-class family and she was brutally killed. The student community felt aggrieved and started agitation. I along with my colleagues met the parents to express our solidarity. Hearing from them I became apprehensive about the role of hospital administrators and police. As the principal of the college didn't lodge the FIR, I personally felt that one civic volunteer couldn't be the lone perpetrator.

What do you have to say about the arrest of a civic volunteer?

To my perception, a civic volunteer ordinarily would not have dared to approach a working doctor. He might have been misdirected by the genuine culprits who might be her colleagues to make him a scapegoat.

Do you believe evidences have been tampered with as claimed by some people?

There is no doubt that evidence has been tampered with. The CBI should also investigate who was responsible for such tampering.

Do you agree with the timeline submitted by Kapil Sibal on behalf of the West Bengal government in the Supreme Court?

The timeline given by the state government doesn't at all satisfy the basic requirements of investigation of the rape and murder inside the hospital. Why would the police wait for more than 12 hours to lodge an FIR? It is the bounden duty of the police to lodge an FIR as soon as they come to know of a cognizable offence.

Some forensic experts claimed that more than one person could be involved. What do you think?

The forensic expert who interacted with me explained that the multiple injuries detected

Since taking over the probe, it seems the CBI has made little headway. The Trinamool Congress has been talking about it.

The CBI has an uphill task and would take time but it has to prove its efficiency being the premier investigating agency of the country. If the CBI fails to reveal the truth, that will give a premium to the criminals.

What about the role of the administration?

The state administration is also involved in the prolonged corrupt practices prevailing at the hospital. I apprehend that the victim might have become a difficult person to negotiate with deep-rooted corruption in the hospital administration.

Modi, Biden discuss safety of Hindus in Bangladesh, restoring peace in Ukraine

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Monday spoke with US President Joe Biden and discussed the situation in Bangladesh and Ukraine. "I spoke with President Joe Biden on the phone today. We discussed the situation in Bangladesh and stressed the need for early restoration of normalcy and ensuring the safety and security of minorities, especially Hindus, in Bangladesh," said PM Modi.

It may be recalled that even after former Prime Minister of Bangladesh Sheikh Hasina fled Dhaka on August 5, there have been continued instances of violence, specially against Hindus. Temples have been vandalized, a Hindu councillor was killed, and many others (over 100) teachers were forced to resign. The situation is far from normal even now.

In the wake of protests by Indian American lawmakers expressing concerns on atrocities against Hindus in Bangladesh, the White House on August 13 said that it would continue to

CPWD staff cautioned against going to PM, ministers with their grievances

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

EMPLOYEES of the Central Public Work Department (CPWD) have been cautioned against referring their service matters to the Prime Minister Narendra Modi, ministers, secretaries and other higher authorities.

Citing the service rules and instruction of the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT) on previous occasions in 2013 and 2015, the department has further warned them that action would be initiated in case of violation.

The warning was issued recently after it was noticed that despite previous warnings, the CPWD's staff have been writing to the higher-ups including the PM avoiding the established communication arrangements.

"If any employee violates the instructions, necessary action will be taken against him as per Central Civil Services (CCS) Conduct Rules, 1964," read an office memorandum (OM) issued by the CPWD last week.

DoPT rules

The act of bypassing the communication channel can be treated as an unbecoming conduct attracting the provision of CCS (conduct) rules. The DoPT, in 2015, clarified that direct submission to authorities other than the immediate official seniors or head of the department through emails or public grievances portal was a violation.

According to the officials, taking note of some employees directly representing their service matters to the PM and others, a note has been issued directing them to strictly adhere to existing rules and instructions for the Government employees in two circulars of 2013 and 2015 of the DoPT.

The DoPT, in 2015, took a serious view of bypassing the prescribed communication channel.

It had also issued similar instructions in 2013 when it found that even junior level clerical staff and unions developed a tendency of sending their grievances straightforwardly to the PM.

The CPWD is a construction management department under the ministry of housing and urban affairs (MoHUA) that provides services from project concept to completion, consultancy and maintenance management for Government offices.

The act of bypassing the communication channel can be treated as an unbecoming conduct attracting the provision of CCS (conduct) rules.

The DoPT, in 2015, clarified that direct submission to authorities other than the immediate official seniors or head of the department through emails or public grievances portal was a violation.

"Attention in this connection is also invited to the provision of Rule 20 of CCS (conduct) rules, 1964 prohibiting Government servants from bringing outside influence in respect of the matter pertaining to his service," read the OM.

The ICG mobilized its vessels and aircraft after receiving a distress signal late on August 25, 2024, from the Maritime Search & Rescue Coordination Centre (MRCC) in Chennai.

The ICG stated, "The Regional Headquarters (North East) in Kolkata promptly mobilized two vessels and a Dornier aircraft to the site. The Dornier aircraft, equipped with advanced night-capable sensors, detected adrift life rafts and sighted survival red flares from the distressed crew."

Rajnath seeks US help for building advanced water tunnel facility

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh, as a part of his US tour, visited the Large Cavitation Channel (LCC) along with the senior official of the Indian Navy and Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO). India is also working to establish a similar facility.

As per the Ministry for Defence (MoD), Rajnath Singh visited "the William B Morgan LCC in the Naval Surface Warfare Centre (NSWC) at Memphis, Tennessee," on Saturday.

The LCC is one of the world's largest and most technically advanced water tunnel facility for testing submarines, torpedoes, naval surface ships and propellers. He was briefed at the facility and he witnessed an actual tunnel experiment.

The discussions also intend to support the ongoing proposal for establishment of a similar facility for indigenous design and development in India, MoD said.

Singh was accompanied by Ambassador of India to US, Director General, Naval Operations from the Indian Navy and DRDO Defence Technology Counsellor, among others. He was received by the US Deputy Under Secretary of the Navy for Policy, and briefed by Commander and Technical Director of the NSWC.

Further, the Defence Minister visited the National Civil Rights Museum and interacted with the Indian community in Memphis, Tennessee on August 25, on the last day of his tour to the US. The National Civil Rights Museum traces the history of the civil rights movement in the US from the 17th century to the present, and is built around the site of the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr in 1968. It also has a bust of Mahatma Gandhi, acknowledging his inspiration for non-violent struggle.

Interacting with the Indian diaspora from Memphis, Atlanta, Nashville, and other nearby areas, Singh lauded the achievements of the community members and their contribution to society, science and economy. He described them as a 'living bridge' between India and US, fostering close relations.

Centre's rebuttal to Mamata govt

Pulls up state for failing to create safe ecosystem for women in response to CM's letter to PM

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

WOMEN and Child Development Minister Annapurna Devi on Monday criticised the Mamata Banerjee-led West Bengal government for not taking any step to start the remaining 11 fast-track special courts despite the pendency of 48,600 rape and POCSO cases.

The minister, responding to Banerjee's August 22 letter to PM Narendra Modi, also pulled up the state for failing to implement key emergency helplines such as the Women Helpline (WHL), Emergency Response Support System (ERSS) and Child Helpline, and emphasised that these services are vital for providing immediate support to victims of violence but remain unimplemented despite repeated reminders from the Central government.

The minister began her letter by saying, "At the outset, I would like to convey my sincere and deepest condolences to the parents of the brave daughter who lived in this world to serve the humanity at large through her noble profession. It is most unfortunate that the worst form of cruelty and violence was inflicted upon her."

The letter, dated August 25, referred to the brutal rape and murder of a 31-year-old PG trainee doctor in the RG Kar Medical College and Hospital

'48.6K cases of rape, POCSO pending, but no action'

"In spite of a pendency of 48,600 rape and POCSO cases in West Bengal, the state has not taken any steps to start the remaining 11 FTSCs. Action in this regard is pending with the state government," Women and Child Development Minister Annapurna Devi said.

in Kolkata, which triggered nationwide protests.

In response to Banerjee's demand for a tough Central law to punish rapists, the minister said that the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita implemented last month "comprehensively addresses the issues of crimes against women by providing stringent punishments."

On fast-track special courts, the minister said that a centrally-sponsored scheme to set up such courts was launched in October 2019.

"As of 30.06.2024, 752 FTSCs, including 409 exclusive POCSO Courts, are functional in 30 States/UTs, which have disposed of more than 2,53,000 cases since the inception of scheme. Under the scheme, the State of West Bengal was allocated a total of 123 FTSCs, which included 20 exclusive POCSO Courts and 103 combined FTSCs dealing with both rape and POCSO Act cases. However, none of these courts had been operationalized till mid-June, 2023," the minister said.

Badlapur school CCTV footage missing as edu dept flags several lapses

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Education Minister Deepak Kesarkar on Monday said that the 15-day CCTV footage was missing from the Badlapur school where two kindergarten girls, were sexually assaulted.

Addressing the media, the education minister said the grandparents of these girls had informed the class teacher and principal about the assault, but the school did not pay adequate attention. A preliminary report by a state-appointed committee revealed that both girls suffered sexual abuse.

"The school management claims to have been informed on August 16, while the family asserts that they notified the school on August 14. This discrepancy is under investigation. The investigation also revealed that for the last 15 days, CCTV footage of the school was missing. The authorities are probing into it.

The disappearance of the CCTV footage has raised questions about the school's response to the incident. Besides, they had called the female attendants of the school, but they refused to join the probe. As per procedure, their refusal to give statements will be recorded, said Kesarkar.

The Opposition alleged that the school is run by the BJP RSS leaders therefore the BJP led government in Maharashtra are protecting the school and police as well because they failed to lodge the complaint on time.

The sexual assault of the two girl sparked widespread outrage in Maharashtra with people demanding strict actions against the school and culprit. The incident led to massive protests in Badlapur, with thousands of people taking to streets and disrupting train services. Police arrested 72 people in connection with the violence.

The accused, Akshay Shinde, was arrested on August 17 and sent to 14 days judicial custody on Monday. Shinde was hired as a contractual worker without any background checks.

Tension erupts in Tripura over idol desecration

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE defacement of a Kali idol sparked communal tension in Tripura's Jirania, prompting the authorities to enforce prohibitory orders under section 163 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita in entire Jirania sub-division.

The idol was desecrated at a temple in Koitorabari village of Jirania and it led to violence on Sunday night. The miscreants torched nine houses and 11 vehicles. Four to five persons also sustained minor injuries during clashes.

In an order, district magistrate Dr Vishal Kumar said the administration received information that there was an apprehension of breach of peace due to violent activities of a group of people under the Jirania sub-division.

"...I...hereby prohibit assembly of 5 or more people with or without arms in entire Jirania sub-division from 1 am of 26.08.2024 to 1 am of 28.08.2024," the order read.

The district police said no new incident of violence was reported on Monday and that, the situation was constantly being monitored.

NGT takes note of 'red water' from borewells in Indore industrial area

SHEKHAR SINGH @ New Delhi

THE National Green Tribunal (NGT) has issued notices to several authorities, including the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEF&CC), the Madhya Pradesh State Ground Water Authority, the Madhya Pradesh Pollution Control Board (MP-PCB), and the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), over a disturbing environmental issue in Indore's Sanwer Road Industrial Area. Handpumps and borewells in the area have been found discharging dangerously polluted, red-colored water.

This action follows the NGT's suo-motu cognizance of a news report highlighting the issue. The bench, led by Chairperson Justice Prakash Shrivastava, along with Judicial Member Justice Arun Kumar Tyagi and Expert Member Dr. A. Senthil Vel, emphasized the severity of the situation.

According to a report submitted by the MP-PCB, groundwater in the affected area con-

Extensive sampling conducted in June 2023 across 53 locations, including villages such as Kumedi, Bardari, Dhankhedi, Shakkarkhedi, and Niranjanpur, revealed alarming Total Dissolved Solids (TDS) levels ranging from 2,000 to 3,600 mg/l, far exceeding the safe drinking water limit of 600 mg/l.

The contaminated water has reportedly caused a range of health issues among the local population, which includes around 300,000 residents. Symptoms such as allergies, hair loss, and bone, dental, and intestinal diseases have been linked to the polluted water. The report also identified 400 industries in the area, primarily engaged in electroplating, chemical production, confectionery, and pharmaceuticals, as major contributors to the pollution. Despite the severity of the situation, action has been taken against only seven of these industries.

Further investigations revealed the discharge of wastewater into the Narwar and Bhaurasala drains and the Kanh River.

Notices have been served to 50 industries, with seven facing immediate closure. Samples collected from public sources, including borewells, handpumps, and wells, confirmed significant pollution, particularly in areas such as Ramnagar Sector A, F, and Kumedi village.

The NGT has directed the concerned officials to submit their responses by way of affidavit at least a week before the next hearing, scheduled for September 30.

Himanta: In touch with Champai for 5-6 mnths, he should join BJP

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

AMID speculations over Champai Soren joining BJP, Assam Chief Minister and co-election in-charge of Jharkhand Himanta Biswa Sarma, on Monday, admitted that he has been in touch with the former chief minister for quite some time and personally feels that he should join the party and strengthen it.

Sarma, however, said that given Soren's stature, he does not want to comment further on him. Soren again landed in Delhi on Sunday night triggering speculation that he will join the BJP soon. Soren, accompanied by his two sons and advisors, reached the capital via Kolkata and is expected to meet with senior BJP leaders.

"He has come to Delhi, and I will try to talk to him.... I have been talking to him occasionally for the last five-six months, but we have never discussed politics..... Now it seems the time has come to talk to him a little bit about politics," said Sarma.

According to Sarma, Champai Soren has three options, he is in Delhi right now.... Options for talks with him are still open, so let's see what happens in the future. He also wants Hemant Soren to join BJP, he said.

"However, given his stature, I feel it inappropriate to comment further. With his arrival in Delhi, we will attempt to engage in discussions with him," said Himanta.

After reaching Delhi, Soren, when asked about meeting BJP leaders and joining BJP, said, "I have come to Delhi for two days for my personal work. As of now, I have not taken any decision. I will share my future plans later."

Prior to his trip to Delhi, Soren spent four days touring the Kolhan area of Jharkhand (his constituency) collecting opinions from the local residents. Earlier, Soren spoke about starting a new chapter and stated that he would neither go to the BJP nor return to JMM. In such a situation, it is also speculated that he will prepare a future strategy for Delhi.

Survey predicts Cong's victory in Assembly polls

In an internal survey for the Congress in Maharashtra, the party is showing a similar trend to that observed in the recent Lok Sabha elections. According to early surveys, the Congress is likely to emerge as the single largest party with over 80 seats in the 288-member state Assembly. Meanwhile, there is intense competition between the BJP and Sharad Pawar-led NCP for the second position. The Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena and Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde-led Sena are also vying for the third position. Deputy CM Ajit Pawar's NCP is expected to replicate its poor performance from the LS polls.

Sharad Pawar to focus on western Maharashtra

After achieving the highest strike rate in the recent Lok Sabha elections, former Union Minister Sharad Pawar has decided to focus on his stronghold in western Maharashtra by identifying potential candidates for the state assembly elections. Samarjeet Singh Ghatge, the son of late two-time MLA Vikram Singh Ghatge and a member of the Chhatrapati Shahu Maharaj family, is likely to contest against NCP Minister Hasan Mushrif in the Kagal constituency. Ghatge has announced his decision to join the NCP (SP). Additionally, BJP leader Harshvardhan Patil from Indapur.

Ajit Pawar's search for new constituency

Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar's decision to withdraw from the Baramati state assembly seat and pave the way for his son has prompted him to search for a more secure constituency. Ajit Pawar suffered a major setback in the Lok Sabha elections when his spouse, Sunetra Pawar, lost by 158,333 votes to Sharad Pawar's daughter, Supriya Sule. Ajit Pawar also faced a significant blow when his spouse trailed by over 40,000 votes in the Baramati state assembly segment, which he has represented since 1991. Given that he could not secure a lead for his spouse in his constituency, there are growing concerns about his chances in Baramati.

10 soldiers among 49 killed in Pak attacks

QUETTA

SEPARATIST militants killed at least 39 people in "coordinated" attacks in southwestern Pakistan on Monday that largely targeted ethnic Punjabis, government officials said.

Pakistan's military said 10 soldiers were also killed, although did not make clear if they died in the original attacks or subsequent clearance operations. Government officials reported deadly attacks in multiple districts targeting civilians in impoverished Balochistan, where security forces are battling sectarian, ethnic and separatist violence. The Baloch Liberation Army (BLA), the most active militant separatist group in the province, claimed responsibility for an overnight operation in a statement.

vehicles travelling on a highway through Balochistan province and shot 23 people dead in one of the attacks, one of the worst shootings in the region in the past several years.

"We have confirmed 39 people killed in several coordinated attacks carried out by the BLA terrorists," Shahid Rind, a spokesman for the Balochistan provincial government. In Musakhail district, between 30 and 40 gunmen stopped 22 buses, vans and trucks one after the other on a highway connecting Punjab with Balochistan, senior official Najibullah Kakar said. "Vehicles travelling to and from Punjab were inspected, and individuals from Punjab were identified and shot," he said. The BLA said in its statement it had launched an operation "on highways across Balochistan", claiming to have targeted only security personnel. An earlier statement from the group published on Monday just after midnight warned the Baloch public to stay away from the highways, adding that their "fight is against the occupying Pakistani military".

Militants also blew up a railway bridge in nearby Bolan district on a track that connects the province to Punjab and Sindh, with six dead bodies found nearby, said Javed Baloch, a senior government official in the district.

Ten people were also killed in Kalat district, including four paramilitary officers and one policeman. AFP

Big Russian missile, drone swarm pummels Ukraine

More than 100 missiles and an equal number of drones deployed

KYIV

RUSSIA battered much of Ukraine on Monday, firing scores of missiles and drones that killed four people, injured more than a dozen and damaged energy facilities in attacks that President Volodymyr Zelenskyy described as "vile."

The barrage of over 100 missiles and a similar number of drones began around midnight and continued through daybreak in what appeared to be Russia's biggest onslaught in weeks. Ukraine's air force said swarms of Russian drones fired at eastern, northern, southern, and central regions were followed by volleys of cruise and ballistic missiles.

"Like most previous Russian strikes, this one was just as vile, targeting critical civilian infrastructure," Zelenskyy said, adding that most of the country was targeted — from the Kharkiv region and Kyiv to Odessa and the west.

Explosions were heard in the capital of Kyiv. Power and water supplies in the city were disrupted by the attack, Mayor Vitali Klitschko said.

Prime Minister Denys Shmyhal said Russia fired drones, cruise missiles and hypersonic ballistic Kinzhal missiles at 15 Ukrainian regions — more than half the country.

"The energy infrastructure has once again become the target of Russian terrorists," Shmyhal said, adding that the state-owned power grid operator, Ukrenergo, has been forced to implement emergency power cuts to stabilize the system.

He urged Ukraine's allies to provide it with long-range weapons and permission to use them on targets inside Russia.

"In order to stop the barbaric shelling of Ukrainian cities, it is necessary to destroy the place from which the Russian missiles are launched," Shmyhal said. "We count on the support of our allies and will definitely make Russia pay."

The Russian Defense Ministry said the attacks used "long-range precision air- and sea-based weapons and strike drones against critical energy infrastructure facilities that support the operation of Ukraine's military-industrial complex. All designated targets were hit."

At least four people were killed — one in the western city of Lutsk, one in the central Dnipropetrovsk region, one in Zhytomyr in the country's center, and one in the partially occupied Zaporizhzhia region in the southeast, local officials said. Thirteen others were wounded. AP

China says took control measures in SCS

Beijing: China said it took "control measures" on Monday against two Philippine Coast Guard ships that had entered waters near the disputed Sabina Shoal in the South China Sea (SCS). The China Coast Guard accused Manila of sending two ships to "illegally barge into waters near Xianbin Jiao", using the Chinese name for the Sabina Shoal. The ships "continued to dangerously approach normally sailing Chinese coast guard ships, inciting hype", it said.

Founder has nothing to hide, Telegram says after his arrest in Paris

PARIS

FRANCE held the Russian-born founder of Telegram Pavel Durov in custody for a second day of questioning on Monday over alleged offences related to the popular but controversial messaging app, which insisted he had "nothing to hide". His arrest after flying into the Le Bourget airport outside Paris late Saturday is the latest extraordinary twist in the career of one of the world's most influential tech icons.

The detention of Durov, 39, was extended beyond Sunday night by the investigating magistrate who is handling the case, according to a source close to the investigation. The initial period of detention for questioning can last up to a maximum of 96 hours.

When this phase of detention ends, the judge can then decide to free Durov — whose fortune is estimated by Forbes magazine at $15.5 billion — or press charges and remand him in custody.

Russia has accused France of "refusing to cooperate" while Elon Musk rushed to Durov's defence and called for his release. Durov holds a French passport in addition to other nationalities.

France's OFMIN, an office tasked with preventing violence against minors, had issued an arrest warrant for Durov in an investigation into alleged offences including fraud, drug trafficking, cyberbullying, organised crime and promotion of terrorism, another source said. Durov is accused of failing to take action to curb the criminal use of his platform. Telegram said in response that "Durov has nothing to hide and travels frequently in Europe."

"Telegram abides by EU laws, including the Digital Services Act — its moderation is within industry standards," it added.

"It is absurd to claim that a platform or its owner are responsible for abuse of that platform."

Meanwhile, President Emmanuel Macron on Monday denied any political link to the arrest of Telegram founder Pavel Durov as the tech tycoon spent a second day in French custody following his surprise arrest at a Paris airport.

"It is in no way a political decision. It is up to the judges to rule on the matter," he wrote on X. AFP

Defence sector firms' stocks run out of ammunition

Higher valuations, lower earnings see stocks decline by 40% from 52-week high; analyst says long-term investors need not worry

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DEFENCE stocks, one of the most demanded assets in the multi-year bull run in recent years, have come under selling pressure, with most components falling 20-30% from their July 2024 highs as the latest reported earnings are unable to justify their sky-soaring valuations.

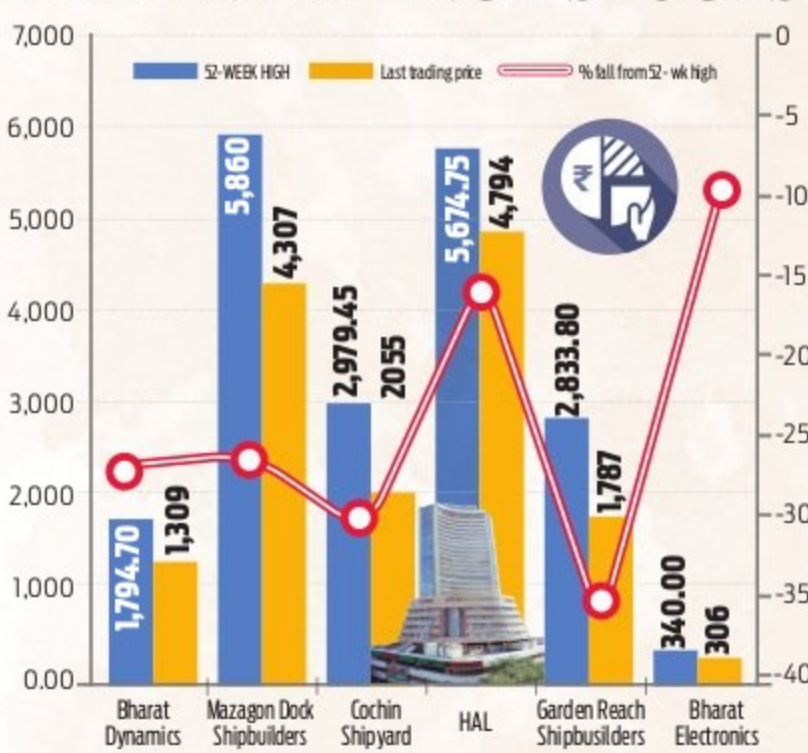

Market analysts believe that the short-term party may be over due to disappointing earnings and valuations run over and above its fundamentals.

"The peaked-out valuations were a matter of concern as the price-to-earnings multiple of many defence companies started trading higher when compared to the five-year average earnings multiple and Q1 disappointing earnings added fuel to the corrections," said Prashanth Tapse, senior vice president (Research), Mehta Equities.

Tapse added that the room is still open for some more price corrections based on fundamental theories.

He, however, also said long-term investors need not worry as the outlook remains optimistic considering the government's focus on defence as a strategic sector for domestic needs as well as focus on export opportunities.

Following a thrust on localisation, increased budgetary allocation, growing domestic order and expansion in global markets, shares of defence companies generated superlative returns for the investors. However, the first quarter earnings of these companies have failed to impress the investors. For example, Hindustan Aeronautics shares have surged 1,375% in the last five years while Bharat Electronics Ltd rallied nearly 800%.

"The recent rally in defence stocks has lost steam, with corrections of 20-30% from July highs. The key issue is high valuations amid a slowdown in India's defence spending, which rose only 4.7% in FY25," said Ajit Mishra - senior vice president, Research, Religare Broking. Mishra stated that to justify current high valuations, companies must deliver on both growth and execution, secure significant international orders and ensure flawless execution, as any missteps could seriously affect profitability.

"Defence stocks have experienced a remarkable surge over the past two years, pushing them into an extremely overbought territory. Although conditions have improved in recent months, there are still certain areas, such as BHEL, BEL, Cochin Shipyard, and Garden Reach Shipbuilders & Engineers, that could see further retraction," said Mishra.

Meanwhile, ICICI Securities on August 16 stated that Mazagon Dock Shipbuilders and Garden Reach Shipbuilders shares may decline 77% and 73%. ICICI Securities increased its price target on Mazagon Dock to ₹1,165 and for Garden Reach Shipbuilders; the brokerage has given a price target of ₹515.

Mehta said that high valuation can be the only reason for short-term sector underperformance. He added that domestic defence companies would get high benefits from the Made in India and Make for the World theme.

Equity markets surge on expectation of Fed rate cut

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INCREASING hope of an interest rate cut by the US Federal Reserve and a rally in the global markets helped equity markets to make a roaring comeback. The local benchmark indices- BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty50 - surged nearly 1% intraday.

While the Sensex added 612 points or 0.75% to settle at 81,698.11 on Monday, the Nifty50 ended 187.46 points or 0.76% higher at 25,010.60.

"The US FED has signalled a rate cut in September, which is reflecting in the decline in US treasury yields and dollar index, which has led to a rally in global markets despite there being no indication of size of cuts. Indian markets hit a new high led by change in FIIs stance to positive from negative along with continued strong DIIs inflows," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Financial Services.

Mid and smallcap also advanced on Monday. The BSE Midcap index closed 0.66% and the BSE Smallcap index ended 0.20% higher. The overall market capitalisation of the firms listed on the BSE surged to a new high of ₹462.3 lakh crore on Monday from 460 lakh crore in the previous session. 33 out of 50 listed stocks on Nifty50 ended higher on Monday with gains led by HCL Tech, Hindalco, NTPC, ONGC, and Bajaj Finserv. On a sectoral front, Metal (+2.16%) was the top performer followed by Realty (+1.76%) and IT (+1.39%) while PSU Bank (0.50%) was the major laggard. ENS

Paytm says Sebi notice to founder old development

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ONE97 COMMUNICATIONS, the parent company of Paytm, said that capital market regulator Sebi issuing show-cause notices to founder and CEO Vijay Shekhar Sharma, during the fintech major's initial public offering (IPO) in November 2021 for alleged misrepresentation of facts is not a new development. Paytm added that it had previously disclosed the matter in its financial results for the quarter ending March and the quarter ending June.

"With reference to recent media reports, we would like to inform you that this is not a new development, as the company had already made relevant disclosures on this matter in its financial results for the quarter and year ended March 31, 2024, as well as the quarter ended June 30, 2024," the company said in a stock exchange filing on Monday.

Shares of One 97 Communications plunged nearly 9% intraday to a low of ₹505.25 on the BSE. The stock ended the Monday session at ₹530, down by 4.48%. Paytm assured stakeholders that it is in regular communication with Sebi and has been making necessary representations regarding the issue.

"Accordingly, there is no impact on the financial results for previous quarters ended June 30, 2024, and March 31, 2024, respectively. We are committed to taking all necessary steps to ensure continued adherence to regulatory requirements and remain dedicated to transparency and compliance in all our actions," the company said.

According to reports, there were fresh notices sent to Sharma in relation to alleged non-compliance with promoter classification norms.

The probe was initiated based on inputs from the Reserve Bank of India which had examined Paytm Payments Bank Ltd (PPBL) earlier this year.

The central bank already dealt a big to Paytm in January this year as it barred PPBL from onboarding new users and from offering various services owing to severe non-compliance.

JN Port secures ₹45K cr funding from REC for various upcoming projects

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Maharana public sector non-bank lender REC has signed an agreement with the Jawaharlal Nehru Port Authority (JNPA) to finance up to ₹45,000 crore for the country's largest container port's various upcoming projects, which include the development of the nearby Vadhavan Port.

The port handles a little over 50% of the containerised cargo volume in the country.

The loan agreement was signed by the port's chairman Unmesh Sharad Wagh and REC executive director Rahul Dwivedi, in the presence of the Union ports and shipping minister Sarbananda Sonowal.

For REC, this large funding helps expand its non-power portfolio, the company said in a statement Monday. Currently its ₹5.3 trillion (₹5.3 lakh crore) loan book comprises power generation, transmission, distribution renewables projects and new technologies such as electric vehicles, battery storage, pumped storage, green hydrogen and green ammonia projects. Eyes on Shah: ICC chair nomination ends today

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WITH the deadline for directors to file their nominations for the International Cricket Council chairperson post closes on Tuesday, all eyes are on BCCI secretary Jay Shah, who is expected to be the front-runner should he be nominated for the top post.

As things stand, Shah has not shown any indication, but should his name be nominated before deadline closes, he might be elected unopposed with not much competition. However, if there are multiple nominations, there will be an election, following which the new chair will take charge on December 1 this year. And in Shah's case, as things stand, he is the favourite to win with more than half expected to support his candidature. In case of an election, the candidate needs nine votes of the 17 — 12 full member directors, three associate member directors who are elected by voting associate members and regional representatives, an independent female director and the ICC chairperson. Mubashshir Usmani, Imran Khwaja and Mahinda Vallipuram were elected as the associate member directors in the recent Annual General Body meeting in July. Among the board of directors, the ICC chief executive does not have a vote and is an ex-officio member.

While the murmurs of Shah going to the ICC have been around for a while now, it all became official when current ICC chair Greg Barclay decided recently not to seek a third term. Barclay took charge as the Independent ICC Chair in November 2020, before being re-elected in 2022. Should Shah apply and get the top post, he will have to resign from his current position as BCCI secretary as the chair is not allowed to be a part of or work for any member nation. Shah, who took charge as secretary in 2019, has one more year left at the BCCI office to complete his second term. After his completion, he will have to take a cooling off period of three years if he wants to continue in the BCCI. However, if he goes to the ICC — where he can hold the office for a maximum of six years (three two year terms) — Shah can come back to BCCI as an office-bearer. While none of it is confirmed at the moment, things could get clearer in the next few days. And when it does, it will be interesting to see who takes the post of Shah in the BCCI. As of now, there are no front-runners but the water will be clearer once there is clarity on whether or not Shah moves to the ICC.

Revised T20 WC schedule

The ICC announced the revised schedule for the women's T20 World Cup that was moved from Bangladesh to United Arab Emirates on Monday. India will kick off their campaign against New Zealand on October 4 before playing Pakistan, Sri Lanka and Australia in Group A. All but the clash against Australia will be played in Dubai which is the bigger of the two venues (other being Sharjah) with a capacity close to 25,000. If India qualifies for the semifinal, they will play the first one in Dubai on October 17. The other venue, Sharjah, with the capacity of 16,000, will host the second semifinal and final.

The tournament, initially scheduled to be played in Bangladesh, was moved because of the ongoing political turmoil in the country. With just a little over a month to go for the tournament, the preparations are underway in the UAE and is expected to get ready in time for the tournament that begins in Sharjah on October 3 with Bangladesh and Scotland playing the opening game.

PARIS Olympics champion Zheng Qinwen rallied from a set down to beat Amanda Anisimova 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 on Monday and reach the second round of the US Open.

China's Zheng, seeded seventh, next faces Erika Andrejeva of Russia, who beat China's Yuan Yue 6-3, 7-6 (9/7). "Obviously she's hitting the ball really good today," Zheng said of Anisimova, who is on the upswing since returning from a mental health break in January — when she was ranked 373rd in the world. A run to the final at Toronto this month saw her return to the top 50 and gain a wild card invitation into the main draw. "Every ball (from Anisimova) went inside in the beginning and I couldn't do anything," Zheng said. "More as the match goes I started to find my rhythm on hard court. Little by little I started to get into the rhythm."

Zheng, who finished runner-up to Aryna Sabalenka at the Australian Open in January, has said she didn't want the same let-down that followed that performance happen in the wake of her groundbreaking Paris Games triumph. Asked on court about her run to gold — which made her China's first Olympic tennis singles champion — she was gracious but already looking forward. "I'm happy what I did in the past, but right now I just want to focus on what I do here," said Zheng, who could face Sabalenka again in the quarter-finals.

Naomi Osaka is at the US Open to compete for the first time in two years, and she said on Sat-

No, Osaka explained, it's more about harkening further back, to the days when she was a child in New York and would come as a fan to watch "all the famous players that you could name," such as Rafael Nadal, Serena and Venus Williams, and Maria Sharapova. UTT: Batra shines in Bengaluru win

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

MANIKA Batra survived the challenge from Ayhika Mukherjee to lead her team, PBG Bengaluru Smashers to a 10-5 victory against Purneri Paltan in Ultimate Table Tennis 2024 at Jawaharlal Nehru Indoor Stadium on Monday. With that win, Bengaluru remain the only unbeaten side of the fifth season of UTT.

It started with a men's singles match, where despite a tough fight from Jeet Chandra, Ankur Bhattacharjee of Purneri Paltan won the first match of this tie. Bhattacharjee took the first game with the scoreline of 11-6 to start the day. Chandra followed it up with his aggressive approach to bag the second game 11-5. The final deciding game was a completely dominating show from Bhattacharjee as he won 11-7.

In the women's singles tie, two Indian heavyweights, Batra and Mukherjee, faced each other. In the first game, Mukherjee won 11-8. The Bengaluru Smashers ace, however, found a way to make a comeback and won the second game 11-5. With two points apiece after the second game, Batra upped the ante in the final game to take it 11-6.

In the mixed double match, Batra partnered with Alvaro Robles of Spain against Poland's Natalia Bajor and Anirban Ghosh. With both teams tied at 4 points each, the last game played a vital role, where Smashers came on top despite being stretched by Pune until the end. Robles followed his prolific doubles display with a similar 2-1 win in the second men's singles of the tie over two-time Olympian Joao Monteiro. With one match to go, Pune were trailing 7-5 and needed to win the women's singles tie 3-0 to take the win. However, Bengaluru's Lily Zhang defeated Yashini Sivashankar 3-0 to end those hopes. Result: Bengaluru Smashers bt Purneri. Paltan 10-5.

SPEED CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP

Carlsen vs Niemann: Inside the grudge match between two rivals in Paris

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN

@ Chennai

AT the Sinquefeld Cup two years ago, Magnus Carlsen set off a $100mn lawsuit after he lost an over-the-board game against Hans Niemann. The former multiple-time world champion, post that loss, accused the US player of cheating. Those allegations not only tore the world of chess but shone an ugly light on the board game. For the record, Niemann, who admitted to cheating in online chess, denied any wrongdoing; since those allegation, there has been a settlement and organisers found no evidence that Niemann used unethical ways to win that game. Even if the wider sporting world has moved on from that incident, fear continues to live in the corners. Suspicion has been heightened like never before and security protocols involve scanning for anal beads as well as deferred broadcasts.

It's in this background that Carlsen will face Niemann for a first face-to-face meeting in the semifinal of the Speed Chess Championship in the first week of September (the other semifinal will be between Hikaru Nakamura and Alireza Firouzja). While that case is closed for all practical purposes, there is so much bad blood it could well be an abandoned laboratory.

After beating Wesley So in one of the earlier rounds at the SCC, Niemann, who has never been a better player according to the ratings, said 'I'm not a victim'. "I think that throughout my chess career, it will become abundantly clear that I deserve an apology, but I'm not a victim, so I don't need an apology," he said in an interview to chess.com. "My vengeance will be victory on the chessboard." The US player didn't stop there. "I think (Carlsen's) a sick, deluded person who wanted to destroy my life," he said. "He did this out of pure vendetta. "I am very motivated to settle things," he added. Interestingly, Niemann, on Sunday, saw a potential opportunity to raise some money for the semifinal even though the event is being organised by chess.com. "I'm seeking sponsors for my upcoming match against Magnus in September," he had posted on X. "If you are interested or know someone who might be, please reach out via DM."

Magnus Carlsen

The Norwegian, 33, 12 years Niemann's senior; meanwhile, eschewed the option of facing Niemann earlier this month. At the recently held team Championship organised by FIDE, Carlsen, sat out games where he may have well faced Niemann (he sat out several other games too). While there remains the option of the Norwegian refusing to play Niemann, he will likely face the US player. "If I have a decent day, I will probably win without too many issues," he was quoted as saying by The Guardian when he has asked about the match. To many, that may look like trash talk but there's more than a grain of truth. The games will be contested in the blitz format and Carlsen remains the undisputed king where he will likely win even during an off day.

A bit about the Speed Chess Championship. It's a 16-player straight knockout event with the first two rounds played online. While Carlsen beat Arjun Erigaisi (only Indian in the draw) in the quarterfinals, Niemann defeated So. The semis, final and the third-place match will be in person but matches will be played on a computer from September 6-8 in Paris. The format will exclusively be Blitz or Bullet but with differing time controls.

WHY INDIA IS A TOP DESTINATION FOR MEDICAL TOURISM

ASHISH SRIVASTAVA @ New Delhi

INDIA has emerged as a top destination for medical tourism, attracting patients from around the world for everything from life-saving surgeries to cosmetic enhancements. This is a far cry from how Indian hospitals were mostly sought for complex medical procedures by patients from lower middle-income countries until a few years ago.

While the global healthcare industry still reels under the effects of Covid-19 pandemic, India's medical tourism sector has emerged from the blues dealt by the pathogen. As per the projections for 2024 by Crisil, the number of medical tourists will soar nearly to 7.3 million, surpassing pre-pandemic figures, up from 6.1 million estimated in 2023. The surge in medical tourism is a testament to India's growing reputation in the field. According to the Medical Tourism Index for 2020-21, a survey among Americans, India was the 10th most preferred destination; a significant achievement out of 46 global destinations. So, what's driving this surge?

Pocket-friendly 'holistic' expertise

One of the primary attractions is the remarkable cost-effectiveness of medical procedures in India. International patients frequently travel here for complex surgeries such as liver, kidney, and bone marrow transplants, cardiac surgeries, and orthopedic procedures. Oncology treatments, including radiation therapy and chemotherapy, are also highly sought after.

Doctors suggested that complex procedures such as cardiac surgery, organ transplants, and cancer treatments can be up to 80% cheaper in India than in the US or Europe. For instance, heart bypass surgery that costs about $130,000 in the US can be done for about $7,000 in India. Similarly, a liver transplant that would cost approximately $300,000 is available for about $45,000 here.

"India is a highly attractive destination for international patients, primarily because of world-class clinical excellence and clinical competencies of our doctors, ensuring that the best clinical outcomes are possible to achieve. Our hospitals are at par, if not more, with those in the US, UK, and other developed countries in terms of facilities, services, and technology. And finally, the third and major reason for attraction is the huge advantage of being the most cost effective. Patients with wide clinical conditions from cardiovascular sciences to oncosciences to neurosciences to gastroenteric sciences to ortho-spine to transplantation sciences to physiotherapy-rehabilitation sciences are treated here," said Dr Simanta G Sharma, head of healthcare development & transformation, Ramaiah Memorial Hospital, Bengaluru.

Holistic health on offer

While India's major cities are bustling with medical tourists, the southern states, in particular, stand out for their holistic healthcare

The integration of traditional therapies such as ayurveda, yoga, and naturopathy provide patients with alternative or complementary treatments that enhance India's appeal as a wellness destination offerings. The integration of traditional therapies such as ayurveda, yoga, and naturopathy provide patients with alternative or complementary treatments that enhance India's appeal as a wellness destination. These therapies are particularly popular among patients looking for alternative or complementary treatments.

"Quality medical services, affordable care in comparison to Mumbai and Delhi are some of the reasons for international patients preferring south India, particularly Tamil Nadu for medical tourism," said Shumaila Tarannum, who deals with international patients services.

Dr Sharma said that there is a high demand among international patients seeking ayurvedic treatment solutions, for which the hospital runs Ramaiah Indic Specialty & Ayurveda (RISA), an integrated state-of-the-art advanced tertiary care ayurveda centre.

"Kerala and other southern states are most sought after by patients from Nigeria, Kenya, Iraq, UAE, and Saudi Arabia, while Mumbai and Delhi and metropolis in north cater to international patients from neighbouring countries like Bhutan, Bangladesh, Nepal Afghanistan etc. So India is actually catering to the world through hospitals in metro cities and I'm sure that in the next 10 years, our district hospitals will also be able to handle international patients," said Dr Suresh Singhvi, co-director, Institute of Surgical Gastroenterology, Sir Ganga Ram Hospital, Delhi

Infrastructure and accessibility

Manipal Hospitals Bengaluru said that apart from medical expertise, cost-effectiveness and shorter waiting time for treatments, what sets India apart from other nations in medical tourism is its world-class infrastructure and technology.

The country is home to some of the world's leading hospitals, equipped with state-of-the-art technology and staffed by internationally trained doctors. Many institutions like Apollo Hospitals, Fortis Healthcare, and Max Healthcare, recognised globally for their expertise in specialties, have also expanded their outreach by setting up international offices, making it easier for patients from countries like Nigeria, Kenya, Iraq, and Saudi Arabia to access healthcare services in India. The factors, other than medical expertise and cost component, which fuel medical tourism are excellent flight connectivity, a wide variety of cuisines and availability of language translators that put patients at ease to seek medical treatments in India, added Dr Sharma.

HEMANT KUMAR ROUT @Bhubaneswar

BARELY two weeks into her second pregnancy, Sahana, 32, realised that the next few months would not be easy. Going by her previous experience, she knew that the nausea would only get intense in the coming days, and the vomiting would be a regular ordeal within minutes of even a light snack or meal. She also knew that it could be managed with help from a doctor and would come to pass. Nine months later, she once again delivered a healthy baby.

Pregnant women often complain of nausea and vomiting, which subsides after the first trimester. But some pregnant women experience severe bouts of nausea and vomiting for a prolonged period. According to health experts, this extreme form of nausea and vomiting experienced during pregnancy is called hyperemesis gravidarum that can lead to dehydration, electrolyte imbalances and weight loss. It is more intense than typical morning sickness and can significantly impact a pregnant woman's quality of life.

The prevalence of hyperemesis gravidarum in India varies and it has emerged as a cause of concern for pregnant women due to its potential effects on both maternal and foetal health. More than 80% pregnant women experience morning sickness and it is usually manageable unlike hyperemesis gravidarum, which requires medical treatment to address symptoms and ensure better health.

For nine months

Even as the exact incidence is not well-documented in Indian healthcare settings, the condition is being increasingly recognised by gynaecologists. Unlike typical morning sickness, which usually resolves by the end of the first trimester, hyperemesis gravidarum can persist throughout the pregnancy and can be severe. Studies suggest this pregnancy complication affects about 0.3% to 3% of pregnant women. Dr Sweta Singh, head of the Obstetrics and Gynaecology department of AIIMS-Bhubaneswar, said most pregnant women experience nausea and vomiting which is very common in early pregnancy. But a few of them suffer from hyperemesis gravidarum that causes uncontrollable vomiting and makes women vomit several times per day during pregnancy, leading to weight loss and volume depletion, resulting in ketonuria and/or ketonemia.

Causes and symptoms

The exact cause of hyperemesis gravidarum has not been fully ascertained yet. However, there are several factors that contribute to this health condition during pregnancy. The factors responsible include genetic, hormonal changes and underlying health issues. Some of the risk factors associated with

HYPEREMESIS GRAVIDARUM

Watch out for severe bouts of vomiting in pregnancy

hyperemesis gravidarum are increased placental mass, history of motion sickness or migraine, and having family history of first-degree relatives like mother or sister who had hyperemesis gravidarum when they were pregnant.

Dr Sanghamitra Satapathy, senior consultant (O&G) at Jagannath Hospital, said elevated levels of pregnancy hormones such as human chorionic gonadotropin (HCG) and estrogen play a role in hyperemesis gravidarum. "There could also be a genetic predisposition, as HCG sometimes runs in families. Underlying health conditions like thyroid disorders or gastrointestinal issues might exacerbate the symptoms. Women, who experience nausea and vomiting, due to consumption of estrogen-containing medications, exposure to motion, or have a history of migraines are at higher risk," she said.

Complications

Hyperemesis gravidarum can create severe complications if not diagnosed and treated. If a pregnant woman experiences severe vomiting and her weight gain in pregnancy is less than 7kg, it may lead to preterm birth and low birth weight in baby. If hyperemesis gravidarum is left untreated, pregnant women will suffer from a sequelae of micronutrient deficiency and sometimes the symptoms lead to complications such as liver dysfunction and kidney problems.

Dr Singh said women with hyperemesis gravidarum may suffer from wernicke encephalopathy or wet brain, which is caused due to deficiency of vitamin B1. Some also suffer from diathesis or very rare bleeding and embryopathy due to vitamin K deficiency apart from adverse effects of malnutrition like poor wound healing and muscle wasting.

"Placental dysfunctions like preeclampsia, abruption, and restricted foetal growth have also been reported in some cases. Esophageal tears, esophageal rupture, diaphragmatic tear, venous thrombosis, acute tubular necrosis, splenic avulsion, pneumothorax, rhabdomyolysis, pneumomediastinum, osmotic demyelination syndrome and hepatic insufficiency are other rare complications witnessed in patients with persistent severe vomiting if left untreated," she said.

Treatment and prevention

Hyperemesis gravidarum is a serious condition that requires prompt and comprehensive care to ensure the health and well-being of both the mother and the baby. It can be managed through medical treatment, lifestyle changes and sometimes hospitalisation in case of severe complications.

Gynaecologists prescribe oral rehydration solutions or intravenous fluids to treat dehydration apart from anti-nausea medications to help alleviate symptoms. In cases where oral intake is severely restricted, nutritional supplements or tube feeding is advised. Modifications in lifestyle, small and frequent meals, and avoiding triggers such as strong odours will also help manage symptoms.

"Correction of hypovolemia and ketonuria is done with intravenous fluids that can also treat electrolyte abnormalities. We also aim to minimise the potential fetal effects of maternal pharmacotherapy through medications like vitamin B6, H1 antagonists (antihistamines), dopamine antagonists, serotonin antagonists, and rarely glucocorticoids," said Dr Singh.

Pregnant women can also prevent vomiting by avoiding environmental triggers along with dietary changes. Ideally, all women of child-bearing age should take a daily multivitamin with folic acid for at least one month prior to conception. This reduces the risk of congenital anomalies, particularly neural tube defects, and may help decrease the frequency and severity of nausea and vomiting during pregnancy. Managing heartburn and acid reflux prior to pregnancy will also prevent or reduce the severity of symptoms in pregnancy, she added.

ATRIAL FIBRILLATION

Physical inactivity, unchecked BP can race your heart as you age

The chances of getting atrial fibrillation, a heart-related illness that affects people above 50 years, are high in obese and physically inactive people, and those experiencing obstructive sleep apnoea. Uncontrolled blood pressure, heavy alcohol use, especially bingeing, and mental stress can also trigger the disease, says Dr Ajit Thachil, consultant cardiac electrophysiologist, Lise Hospital, Kochi, in an interview with Anna Jose. Edited excerpts:

What is atrial fibrillation and its incidence rate in India?

Atrial fibrillation (AFib) is a condition causing rapid uncoordinated irregular heartbeat from the upper chambers of the heart. The possibility of getting affected by the disease increases as the heart gets older. However, there is no accurate data available on the prevalence of atrial fibrillation in India. Worldwide, it is calculated that around 10% of people aged above 65 suffer from the condition.

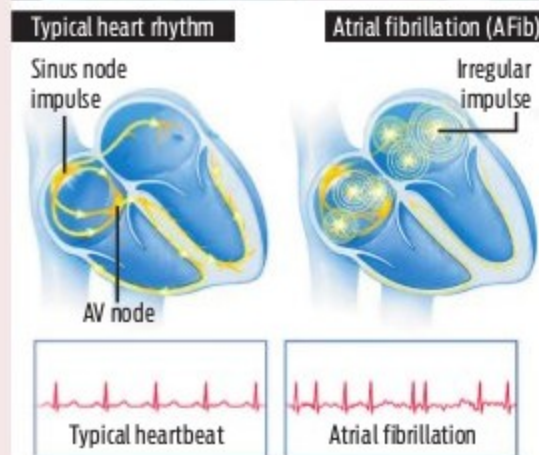

How is the condition diagnosed? Do regular heart check-ups help?

In most cases, patients with AFib do not present with any symptoms. They may not be aware they have atrial fibrillation. The condition is symptomatic in a minority, and they may experience a fast heartbeat, breathing difficulties, and giddiness. In some cases, this condition of fast heartbeats leads to stroke, and we test and retrospectively diagnose atrial fibrillation. Though regular monitoring of heartbeat in people over the age of 50 years can increase the possibility of diagnosing atrial fibrillation, it is often difficult to diagnose the condition in asymptomatic people as it often occurs only for a few minutes or an hour. Studies on how to diagnose the disease more reliably in the general population are still going on.

How can we prevent the occurrence of the disease?

The condition, as it is related to ageing, is not preventable most of the time. However certain modifiable factors can be addressed to reduce the incidence of Afib. The chances of occurrence of the disease are high in obese and physically inactive people. It is also high among people who experience obstructive sleep apnoea, a sleep-related breathing disorder that occurs when the upper airway is repeatedly blocked during sleep. Most such people snore during sleep, and have daytime drowsiness; this can sometimes be reduced by maintaining an ideal body weight.

Also, uncontrolled blood pressure for a long time and alcohol use, especially on binges, can increase the chance of this disease. Another trigger for Afib is mental stress. Substance abuse can also trigger Afib. Thus, weight loss, regular moderate physical activity, avoiding alcohol overuse, and control of hypertension and mental stress, can reduce the incidence of Afib. Cases of atrial fibrillation caused by heredity are rare.

What are the treatment options available for the disease?

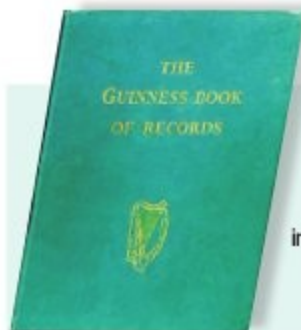

First of all, it is better not to treat most people with asymptomatic atrial fibrillation, if the heart is normal. We need to identify who needs treatment. The patients who require treatment are a minority. We need to prevent the occurrence of strokes due to AFib. People with longer duration of Afib who also have other risk factors like diabetes, high blood pressure, heart muscle dysfunction and old age, the condition can lead to stroke. Medications can help prevent the occurrence of strokes. The advancements in medical science in the last 10 years have made stroke-preventing medicines safe for patients. Treatments are available for Afib per se also. There are two kinds of treatment - medication and ablation. Taking medicines only when they experience an irregular heartbeat can help people with less frequent occurrences of the disease. Patients who suffer from the condition frequently will have to take medicines regularly, and they usually work for around 50-60% of people.

What is ablation for treating atrial fibrillation?

Cardiac ablation, a minimally invasive keyhole procedure done through the blood vessels in the groin, is found to be more successful and safer in treating atrial fibrillation than medicines. While the success rate of medications is 50%, the success rate of ablation is 70-80%; success rates are higher in relatively younger patients with normal hearts and early stages of AFib. Also, in cases of chronic or persistent atrial fibrillation, medicines may not be effective, and ablation has to be done. It is advised to undergo the treatment at the earliest, as delaying the ablation unduly makes it less effective.

After receiving praise for his role in Raghu Thatha, actor Ravindra Vijay, elated with the reviews, speaks about his film with National Award-winning co-star Keerthy Suresh

MONIKA MONALISA

RAVINDRA Vijay is on a roll this month with the Tamil web series Brinda, starring Trisha Krishnan; and now Raghu Thatha, starring Keerthy Suresh. Despite both his roles being completely different from each other, Vijay is convincing in both. In Raghu Thatha, he plays the character of Selvan, who is paired with Suresh's character. "This layered character is representative of the patriarchy surrounding us. He is a two-faced character, who pretends to be a progressive feminist until his true colours are revealed. It was fun to dive into the character for this role," says Vijay. Considering most of his scenes were with Suresh, Vijay is in awe of his National Award-winning co-star. "My character was supported by a brilliant actor like Keerthy. She is already an established star but working with her was a smooth ride. While many things were written in the script, we did improvise on the go. If a scene is too structured or planned, it will show in the making. We had scope to play with the script which we did," says Vijay about the movie, which he describes as a project made with a group of close-knit friends. The movie is written and directed by Suman Kumar, with whom he had first worked in the popular Hindi web series The Family Man, starring Manoj Bajpayee. However, Vijay reveals that his connection with Kumar goes back much further. "I went to Bangalore Medical College and his wife Chitra was my senior. I somehow got along well with Suman. We have gone to most watering holes in the city," he says, adding that they frequent Pecos the most.

Working with friends can be a tricky affair. Agrees, Vijay. "There is fun, banter and joy but there are also tense moments; you know exactly how your friend will respond. It is walking a thin line at times; like an elastic. Sometimes, he pushes and I pull, making sure nothing snaps," says Vijay cautiously.

Having largely been part of various South Indian movies, Vijay expresses his discomfort about it being attributed to regional cinema. "When people refer to Hindi cinema, it is mostly Bollywood. If you take a movie that is not rooted in Indian stories and call it global Indian cinema, I don't agree with that. For example, we have seen how successful a film like Kantara has been. Movies which tell a human story effectively would reach any audience in the world," says Vijay, who has also been part of movies like Jawan. "We tend to label things for commodification," says Vijay, who is currently shooting for a Tamil web series.

Emily in Paris Season 4 may be getting mixed reviews, but the show's fashion quotient remains on point. From bold colours to maximalist trends, here are the key style takeaways

Emily with her friend Mindy Chen

PARISIAN FLAIR

MONIKA MONALISA

EMILY in Paris is back, as stylish and colourful as ever. Season 4 of this romantic-comedy drama series has arrived and while the series may be receiving mixed reviews, one thing remains consistent – Emily's quirky, bold fashion choices. Set in the city of love, the show is considered a go-to guide for fashionistas with many waiting to incorporate the key elements in the show into their style.

Socialite Ila Naidu, known for her love of designer shoes, highlights the appeal of colour-blocking and mixing prints featured on the show. "It is a visual treat to watch Emily. Every season they up the style game by one notch. My takeaway this season is definitely to go big and bold. As far as colours are concerned, they have done a lot of colour blocking and mix and match even when it comes to prints – dots with checks, stripes with checks – they've done it all," Naidu says, encouraging viewers not to shy away from bold colours.

Fashion designer Rrinima Borah has a different take. While acknowledging Emily's love for bold hues, Borah notes that colour blocking isn't new. "It's so last year's trend," she says. For her, the real highlight was the attention to accessories. "They went big on accessories. Head gears, hair bands, jewellery, the right bag with every outfit... everything was researched well. The big takeaway is that clothing is just clothing if it's not styled well," Borah adds, highlighting that Emily's friend Mindy Chen's [played by Ashley Park] dressing style was also a head-turner.

Completely different from Emily's usual style, the show had a part where she arrives at a masquerade ball wearing a black-and-white striped catsuit-gown hybrid, complete with a cape and wide-brimmed hat. "Not your typical ball gown for sure. I wish we see more celebrities dressing like that on the red carpet," says Nagashri Gururaj, a celebrity designer.

This production of Monty Python's Spamalot is bringing the British comedy group's trademark absurd humour and iconic musical numbers to the city next month

DESE GOWDA

ARRIVING on the British comedy scene in the late '60s, Monty Python shattered the norms, conventions, and boundaries that had defined it until then. Through four seasons of television, three films, and as many musicals, Monty Python's blend of the surreal, the absurd, and the outright funny became so iconic that it continues to shape contemporary comedy and television. Perhaps their most significant influence is how they made silliness intellectually respectable. Before Python, high-brow humour and lowbrow slapstick rarely mixed; Python gleefully blended them, giving us sketches where philosophers engaged in absurd football matches, dead parrots became the focus of customer service disputes, and the meaning of life could be summed up in a musical number. Early next month, Bengalure-

Holy Grail of Giggles

ans will have the chance to experience Monty Python's unique brand of humour live with the staging of the musical Spamalot, brought to the city by the C.A.U.S.E. Foundation. The Tony Award-winning musical, written by Python wordsmith Eric Idle, is a hilarious spoof of the group's first film, Monty Python and the Holy Grail, which itself is a parody of the Arthurian legend.

"The reason I chose Spamalot is that, like all the musicals I've directed in the past, this is comedy. My selections are always comedies – they're not sad or purely dramatic, with the exception of Fiddler on the Roof, which leans more towards drama," shares Leila Alvares, director of the show. "Spamalot stands apart mainly because it's more slapstick than most other comedies. I'm fortunate to have a talented group of actors and singers who excel in comedic timing, so bringing out that unique humour isn't difficult for us," she adds.

A still from the film Monty Python and the Holy Grail

Monty Python's distinct style can often be challenging to adapt for a broader audience. It blends slapstick with sharp wit, poking fun at various aspects of society and including religion.

"Spamalot is a spoof, so by nature, it's irreverent. Monty Python's humour can be divisive for a couple of reasons. One is that the humour is quite slapstick, which isn't everyone's cup of tea. It does poke fun not just at other musicals but also at religion. However, it's done in a gentle way. It's more about highlighting the absurdity of certain things in a humorous way," Alvares notes.

Music plays a central role in Spamalot, with songs that have become iconic in their own right. Eric Idle's compositions, such as Always Look on the Bright Side of Life, are integral to the show's charm. "For the most part, I've been faithful to the original music; I don't usually mess with the orchestration. However, I do have a strong affinity for harmony, because I used to conduct choirs, so occasionally, I add in a few more harmonies where I feel it's needed," she says.

That said, Alvares did make some minor adjustments, particularly in terms of song length. "Some of the songs are too long, and I personally feel that Indian audiences aren't used to sitting for more than two hours at a stretch. Although the music in Spamalot is fast-paced and engaging, I've shortened one or two songs," she explains.

(Monty Python's Spamalot will be staged on September 6, 7.30pm, and on September 8, 11.15am and 7.30pm, at Chowdhia Memorial Hall, Malleswar. Tickets start at ₹200 and are available on book-myshow.com)

Success means different things to different people. In today's world, it is often determined by financial wealth. When can we say that a person is successful in life? Is there any measure of success?

Success can be endlessly debated, so I will share a personal story. When I was younger, my goals were simple: I only wanted to see my name in print and get paid for my writing. It felt like an impossible dream. Writing my first newspaper article felt like a major achievement, but over time, what success meant, evolved. With significant effort, I accomplished even more as the years rolled by—16 novels, over a million copies sold, fame, and recognition. Yet, I still do not feel I have reached the pinnacle of success. goals simply shifted. Success isn't about wealth or fame as there will always be someone with more. For me, success is achieving the small goals you set for yourself, whether it's quitting smoking, walking daily, or simply being a nice person. Success is about facing your own unique challenges and working hard to overcome them. Success to me, is about the small steps we take daily, leading to a more fulfilling life, over time.

LEKSHMI C PILLAI

As the world sings earth songs to reaffirm its green vows, the automobile industry gears up with pace and power to take the lead.

However, it has always been bogged down by two concerns – how to reduce dependency on fossil fuels and the anxiety of customers about the reliability of electric vehicles (EVs).

The urgent need, of late, to combat climate change and reduce carbon emissions has also helped the industry's added focus towards green practices. Also aiding the shift is the need to wriggle out of the accusation that the country's transportation sector, especially road transport, contributes over 30 per cent of the emissions.

For the reasons above and to align themselves with India's ambitious green mobility goals to hit 30 per cent EV adoption by 2030 and expand charging infrastructure and manufacturing, the industry is embracing EVs, sustainable materials, fuel-efficient engines, renewable energy, and green certifications. And for many leading manufacturers, the answer to many woes like reducing emissions and promoting green initiatives lies in EV technology.

Green initiatives in general are based on many pillars

Electric Vehicles (EVs) development: Brands such as Tata Motors, MG Motor, and Mahindra Electric, have introduced electric car models in the Indian market to encourage the adoption of cleaner transportation options.

Hybrid vehicles: Some brands, such as Toyota, Maruti Suzuki, and Honda, have introduced hybrid vehicles that combine traditional internal combustion engines (ICEs) with electric powertrains to improve fuel efficiency and reduce emissions.

Biofuels and alternate fuel development: Brands are also exploring the use of biofuels and alternate fuels like CNG (Compressed Natural Gas) to reduce the dependence on fossil fuels. Firms have also invested heavily in Biogas plants and solar power plants.

Vehicle recycling programmes: Car manufacturers are coming up with vehicle recycling programmes to responsibly dispose of end-of-life vehicles and reduce the environmental impact of automotive waste.

Green manufacturing practices: Several car brands are also adopting green manufacturing practices to reduce energy consumption, water usage, and waste generation in their production processes.

Life after love

FOR many of us, our partners are very much part of our social circles. We might have found them within our usual group of friends or acquaintances in the first place, and if not within the circle itself, chances are the partner is well within six degrees of separation of our closest people. In the context of an arranged relationship, it might feel like there is no real connection, but even there, people will typically find someone with some degree of commonality.

When we don't have too much in common with each other, if and when we separate from each other, it feels like our worlds can quickly drift apart and we each find our own peaceful havens.

(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

If one moves to Toronto and the other to Chitradurga, chances are slim that their worlds will collide over and over, making it difficult for both.

Practically speaking, we often do not have that luxury to move or change our world. We breakup and end up still swimming in the same little fish-bowl, bumping into each other all the time. Even if temporarily, we stay away from each other, pointedly not going to parties or events where the ex- might be there, sooner or later we will end up seeing each other.

We cannot always ask our friends and family to choose one or the other, especially if the breakup occurred in a 'no fault' scenario, where neither party had any grievous fault, but simply broke up. In such situations, friends might sympathise with us and try and keep us apart for a few weeks or even months, but after that, it is back to normal and we are likely to see each other in the same venues.

When you do end up seeing each other again, do you avoid each other? Or, give perfunctory nods of hellos and politely stay a bit away from each other? Or, do you openly acknowledge that you had something that is not there any more, and talk about each other openly and honestly? Pushing it a bit further, would you want to be each other's support as you move on, and cheer and support each other as you try to do that?

Many times, we breakup in bitterness and pain, and cannot even visualise being around each other – in such times, there is no question of being okay around each other. No news about the ex's new liaisons is the best news. To have anything more, and especially to be really good friends after a break-up, we need to be able to break up very considerably and consciously. Conscious breakups mean we should necessarily be able to understand and process the hurt we have caused or endured, be able to relate to the person regardless of what caused the relationship to not work, and still like the person well enough to process all this with them. It isn't easy and it isn't for everyone.

It might seem ideal, but we don't have to live ideal lives – we just have to live real lives. If you do breakup, just break up altogether. It is okay.

With October set to see the release of some big films, Dhruva Sarja's Martin, Upendra's UI, Rajinikanth's Vettaiyan, Suriya's Kanguva, Akshay Kumar's Sky Force, among other projects, the Bhairathi Ranagal team opted to shift the release. It was later remade in Tamil as Pathu Thala starring Silambarasan. Directed by Narthan and produced by Geetha Shivarajkumar under the Geetha Pictures banner, Bhairathi Ranagal features Shivarajkumar, Rukmini Vasanth, Bollywood actor Rahul Bose, and Avinash. Bheema actor Vijay Kumar announces new project with trusted associate Vetri Vel

RR Vetri Vel (Thambi)

CE FEATURES

VIJAY KUMAR is currently enjoying the success of Bheema, which hit theatres on August 9 and continues to hold strong in theatres across Karnataka even in its third week. While the film continues to draw audiences, the actor and director has already announced his next project with his long-time associate, RR Vetri Vel (also known as Thambi). Temporarily titled VK 30, Vijay made the announcement along with an interesting poster, which features the actor in a visionary pose with a reptile perched on his shoulders. The film's poster also reveals that it comes from the same team behind the successful movies Salaga and Bheema which had music by Charan Raj, dialogues by Masthi and cinematography by Shiv Sena.

In a conversation with CE, Vijay expresses his excitement about teaming up with his associate, Vetri Vel. While he has kept the genre of the film a secret, he clarified that it won't be another gangster film. Reflecting on his collaboration with his associate, Vijay shares, "Vetri has been with me for the last couple years, and he understands the pulse of my acting. We're like-minded, and I consider an associate director to be one of the pillars of any project. I find Vetri extremely talented. Moreover, I've always wanted to see the technicians working with me grow. I aim to nurture them."

As for his current work, Vijay Kumar has already completed half of the shooting for VK 29 with director Jadeshaa K Hampi. Once that project is wrapped up, he is set to shift his focus to VK 30. When asked about his next directorial venture, Vijay mentions that he's committed to acting for now and will take some time before returning to the director's chair.

GANESH'S KRISHNAM PRANAYA SAKHI GROSSES ₹20 CRORE AT THE BOX OFFICE

The romantic drama, now in its second week, is being shown on over 230 screens including multiplexes, and has become an all-time hit for the Golden Star

A SHARADHAA

THE Ganesh-starrer Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi, which hit theatres on August 15, faced stiff competition from 11 other films that were released on the same day. Despite the crowded release, this romantic family drama has become a massive hit, drawing audiences across Karnataka and making a significant impact at the box office. The film's success can be attributed to its blockbuster album by Arjun Janya and Srinivas Raju's skillful direction, along with strong performances from Ganesh, Malavika Nair, and the entire cast, which had the audience praise the film for its heartfelt storytelling. According to box office reports, Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi, produced by Prashanth G Rudrappa under The Trishul Entertainment banner, and distributed by KVN Productions, has earned an impressive gross collection of approximately 20 crores gross within just 10 days. This remarkable achievement makes it one of Ganesh's top-performing films, with some single theatres expecting it to run for 50 days. Initially released in a limited number of 61 screens, Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi quickly gained popularity, leading to an expansion of its screenings to meet high demand. Entering its second week, the film is now being shown on over 230 screens, including multiplexes across Karnataka. In Bengaluru alone, 150 shows are running exclusively. Ganesh, who has been actively engaging with audiences by visiting theaters, recently made a surprise appearance at Woodlands Theater in Mysuru. He was greeted with a warm and enthusiastic reception from his fans. Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi marks Malavika Nair's Kannada film debut. The cast includes Sharanya Shetty, Rangayana Raghu, Sadhu Kokila, Ramakrishna, Ashok, Shruti, and Shashikumar. Venkat Rama Prasad has handled the film's cinematography.

'Laughing Buddha' sheds light on the overlooked personal struggles of a police constable'

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Bharath Raj, who made his directorial debut with Hero—starring Rishab Shetty and produced by his banner, Rishab Shetty Films—is thrilled to once again collaborate with this prestigious production house on his latest project, Laughing Buddha starring Pramod Shetty. "Working with Rishab Shetty Films again is truly exciting," Bharath shares with enthusiasm. "I feel fortunate that Rishab sees something special in my work. This opportunity is significant to me, especially considering Rishab's stature as an actor, producer, and director, and his National Award win," he says. Bharath, who has written the story of Laughing Buddha along with his team, is keenly aware of the responsibility that comes with working under such a celebrated banner. "Collaborating with a notable production house like Rishab Shetty Films adds responsibility," he notes. "We need to be especially thoughtful about our subject matter and ensure it connects with audiences. Fortunately, Rishab, being a filmmaker himself, understands the nuances of storytelling and has been supportive throughout the process." Reflecting on his journey with Rishab Shetty, Bharath recalls how their partnership began with Sa Hi Pra Shale Kasaragodu, Koduge Ramanna Rai. "It was during the making of Sa Hi Pra Shale that I pitched the idea for Laughing Buddha to Rishab.

His immediate interest and enthusiasm for the concept were truly encouraging. I described the film as an exploration of the personal side of a police constable—an angle that isn't often highlighted. Rishab was excited about the universal appeal of the story and felt it had the potential to resonate with audiences." Laughing Buddha explores the often-overlooked personal challenges faced by a police constable, including issues related to weight. "We're shedding a light on the side of police work that's frequently neglected," Bharath says. "The film merges the professional and personal aspects of the police constable's life. The essence of the book by writer Jogi inspired me to develop the character further. Additionally, a particularly distressing real-life incident also played a crucial role in shaping the film. There was a video involving a police constable who faced severe challenges from his superior officer. That story deeply moved me and sparked my creative process for Laughing Buddha," Bharath reveals. The cast of Laughing Buddha includes Pramod Shetty in the lead role, with Teju Belawadi and Sundar Raj playing pivotal roles. Diganth appears in a surprise role. The film has music by Vishnu Vijay and cinematography by S Chandrasekaran, and dialogues written by Anirudh Mahesh, Raghu Niduvalli and Bharath. "Having such talented actors on board is incredibly exciting. I believe Laughing Buddha will make a significant impact on screen, and I'm eagerly awaiting its release on August 30," Bharath concludes.
